Gaglardi Denies Misuse of Highway Funds

Graft Charge Jolts House

In Our HOUSE

By Arthur Mayse

The tulips on Speaker Shantz' table are still fresh and fair, but the unnatural calm of Monday was only a weather-breeze. We can see it now as we lead to the storm whose first onslaught we felt when NDP Gordon Dowding laid his graft charges before our House Tuesday afternoon.

How hard, and long this gale will blow, we won't try to guess. But the earlier campaign fund shakedown allegations are the merest breeze by comparison. An investigation-in-depth—domestic if Attorney-General Bonner gets his way, by royal commission if Opposition Leader Strachan prevails—is inevitable.

Roost with me in the Speaker's Gallery, behind us the daily visitation of nice high school kids, while Gordon Hudson Dowding of Burnaby follows his slow windup with the bean-ball.

Below, the House looks much as it does on any mid-session afternoon with the budget debate trailing toward its close. A number of government seats are empty, among them Mr. Gaglardi's and the premier's.

High, Fast Pitch

Mr. Dowding notes that the widely-distributed budget speech is bound in Soared white and green. He suggests that for the B.C. motto, "Splendor sine Occasu," Mr. Bennett might well substitute "populi carbonum," or "grind the people down."

Then, almost without preamble, the Burnaby member cuts loose with the high, fast pitch.

There have been hints and rumors in this big grey-stone whispering gallery of ours. My impression is that the magnitude of the NDP charges catches the government side less than prepared.

So underplayed is this quiet drama that the students behind us are slow to realize anything out of the ordinary is going on below. But by degrees their whispering stops.

Up and Down

Mr. Dowding began his speech, second of the afternoon, shortly after 3 p.m. He is about ten minutes along with his list of charges when, at 3:25, Mr. Bonner rises.

"Will the honorable member permit me to interpose a question?"

Request denied, he sits down in silence.

So to the end. The member resumes his seat, but only for a minute. Before Salmon Arm Sacred Willis Jefcoat has more than launched his speech, Gordon Dowding gets up, bows to the Speaker, and leaves the House.

Upstairs, in a restaurant buzzing with MLAs, reporters find him alone at one of the smaller tables. He looks tired and strained.

"It didn't make me happy, having to do that," he says. "As a lawyer, I'd sooner defend than prosecute."

Back to poor Mr. Jefcoat, a good grey country member who would like to see a portion of Shuswap Lake foreshore declared a game sanctuary for waterfowl.

Anti-Climax

His speech is anti-climax. He's the boy stolidly munching birthday cake in a corner after the party has dissolved in a free-for-all. The urgent business of our House—what to do about the Dowding charges—is being conducted in corridors, party offices and the restaurant. At the moment, nobody's much interested in waterfowl.

I can spare a morsel of pity for Mr. Bonner, too. His chief absent, Highways Minister Gaglardi in Chicago, the attorney-general for those loaded minutes, carried his party on his shoulders unaided.

And I can't help being sorry for the impression of our House those high school students took home with them.

It wasn't edifying.

DIEF OPENS CAMPAIGN ON WHISTLE-STOP TOUR

(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA—Prime Minister Diefenbaker hits the campaign trail tonight, beginning his electioneering with a 10-day round trip through Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

This first segment of his campaign includes travel by train, plane and bus, with heavy emphasis on whistle-stop calls-by rail.

In last year's election race, the prime minister covered the nation mainly by air.

Bennett Sees More Rate Cuts

FOUR BODIES IN PLANE WRECKAGE

CALGARY (CP)—The bodies of four men—the pilot and a three-man CBC television crew—were found in the wreckage of a crashed aircraft southwest of here today.

Missing since Monday morning were pilot Bill Prentice, 27, of Calgary, and Norman Caton, 40, Len MacDonald 33 and Charles Reiger, 33, all on assignment from the CBC in Toronto.

The aircraft from which they were photographing an elk herd was "rolled up like a ball" on the east side of a razor-back edge in the Purcupine Hills, 18 miles west of Claresholm.

The premier said he hoped the reduction could be made every March 30th, the anniversary of government amalgamation of the B.C. Electric Company and B.C. Power Commission into the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

The premier said he has discussed the matter with the power authority, "and it is no secret we expect these reductions to take place."

"I hope they will take place every year."

The premier said negotiations over development of the Columbia river hydro project have been going on steadily with Ottawa and the U.S.

"Everything is agreed except the price," he said. "It is very close to coming to an understanding and, irrespective of who might be elected in Ottawa, although I might have my own personal opinions, I am sure that great development will take place."

The premier said that the government does not interfere in the ordinary running of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

However, he said, the government has certain aims.

"We want to bring the benefits quickly and progressively to the people of our province," he said. "But we don't want to take the cream off and leave the skim milk. We want to build it on a solid foundation."

John Pinckney of Rosetown, president of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association and publisher of the weekly Rosetown Eagle, was commenting in an interview on a report in the Washington Daily News. (See story Page 18.)

"Air Marshal Slemon in no way whatever mentioned Mr. Diefenbaker, his government or his policies to us while we were at his headquarters," Mr. Pinckney said.

"Will the honorable member permit me to interpose a question?"

Request denied, he sits down in silence.

So to the end. The member resumes his seat, but only for a minute. Before Salmon Arm Sacred Willis Jefcoat has more than launched his speech, Gordon Dowding gets up, bows to the Speaker, and leaves the House.

Upstairs, in a restaurant buzzing with MLAs, reporters find him alone at one of the smaller tables. He looks tired and strained.

"It didn't make me happy, having to do that," he says. "As a lawyer, I'd sooner defend than prosecute."

'They'll Drag Up Anything'

Highways Minister Philip Gaglardi said today that under the system used in paying for work contracts it would take a team of corruptors in the department to carry out any plan for graft.

The minister, in a telephone interview from Chicago where he attended a showing of earth-moving equipment, was referring to affidavits tabled in the legislature by Burnaby NDP member Gordon Dowding alleging departmental work sheets were altered to permit wrongful payment of some $135,000.

Mr. Gaglardi said: "This is smear and filthy and it appears they (the NDP) will drag up anything."

Mr. Gaglardi charged that Mr. Dowding based his charges in the legislature simply to get maximum "propaganda value."

ALWAYS CORRECT

And he strongly defended E. C. Webster, department director of construction and other men in the department, saying: "I have never found any indication of any of them following anything but the correct procedure."

Regarding a charge that he had promised to "take care" of Union Contractors Limited if the firm paid off a department employee's mortgage, Mr. Gaglardi said:

"How could I promise to pay anybody anything and then get a raft of engineers in the department to go along with it?"

He said it was possible for final estimates on a job to change. But the system ruled out the possibility of a contractor getting money for work not done.

NO DEAL

The minister also denied the affidavits charges there was a deal with the former L. and M. Logging Company of Kamloops to pay Mrs. Florence Gresty Social Credit party worker, $350 a month.

He said he had never met his accuser, Dick Holzworth.

GORDON DOWDING tables documents

PAYOUT DENIED

'I've Never Played Organ In My Life'

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. Florence Gresty, a former Social Credit candidate named in the B.C. Legislature Tuesday as having received $350 a month from a logging company, has denied the charge.

In an interview at her home here, she said: "I don't even know of the company (L. and M. Logging Company) mentioned in affidavits filed in the legislature earlier."

She said she had once worked for a logging company in Princeton, B.C., as a bookkeeper for $350 a month about five years ago. She did not name the company, but said the president was Burt Lymburner.

Mr. Lymburner was a director of L. and M.

"I have never been paid a cent by them or any other company except for work I honestly performed for wages."

She said she was a candidate for Mackenzie in 1952 while living in Powell River and "I wasn't paid a red cent for that."

Gordon Dowding, New Democrat Party member for Burnaby, named Mrs. Gresty in tabling affidavits alleging misuse.

Argoud Charged

PARIS (Reuters)—Ex-Col. Antoine Argoud, a top leader of the terrorist Secret Army Organization, was charged today with plotting and attempting against the authority of the state. (See page 13.)

Snow Hits Peaches

NEW YORK (UPI)—Heavy snow whipped by gale-force winds pounded the southern Appalachians today, threatening Virginia's peach crop, closing schools and icing roads.

2 More Pilots Out

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two more Pacific Northwest Airlines pilots have been suspended for refusing to cross picket lines set up by striking stewardesses and traffic staff. Six pilots now are on strike.

Wage Boost Sought

PORLTAND, Ore. (AP)—The International Woodworkers of America, who passed up a chance for a wage increase last year, announced Tuesday they will seek a 40-cent-an-hour boost in this year's negotiations in the U.S. Pacific Northwest.

DEFENDS TAKEOVER

Answering criticism of the B.C. Electric takeover, the premier again defended his government's action as democratic. The legislation had been endorsed by all parties in the legislature.

In an aside during his speech the premier said his government is not planning to take over the B.C. Telephone Company.

Looking at Chilliwack chamber of commerce president Dave Greenwood at the head table, Mr. Bennett said: "I say to the telephone company we are not going to take them over."

Mr. Greenwood is manager of the Chilliwack branch of the telephone company.

Hacked to Death

ENGCOBO, South Africa (Reuters)—Negro tribal headman Jonginamba Deliwe was hacked to death by a band of about 40 Negroes Tuesday night as he dashed from his burning hut near Confimvaba, police said today.

Tony Refuses Job

LONDON (UPI)—Lord Snowdon, Princess Margaret's husband, has turned down a £45,000 ($126,000) a year job offer from an English provincial newspaper, it was announced today.

OUT OF ORDER

Speaker Hugh Shantz ruled him out of order.

At adjournment of the House, Mr. Bonner attempted to make a motion passing the matter over to the committee. Unanimous consent of the House for an improvised motion is required and Mr. Strachan referred to a fused it.

Afterwards, Mr. Strachan said that a public accounts committee investigation would last as long as the session of the legislature.

He blocked a bid in the legislature by Attorney-General Robert Bonner to have the charges referred to the public accounts committee.

However, they're likely to end up there anyway.

Mr. Bonner made two attempts to join the issue in the House. The first was when he tried to ask questions during the speech by Gordon Dowding (NDP-Burnaby) in which the allegations were made.

The investigation should be made under a Supreme Court judge, he said, and he should be assisted by "any Queen's Counsel in British Columbia".

GOT NOWHERE

Mr. Strachan said on a previous occasion when the committee was charged with investigating reports about the Stewart-Cassiar Road it "got nowhere".

The Opposition leader also said the committee does not have "equal representation". It has eight government members to only five opposition MLAs, he said.

"The committee is incapable of doing a good job. It will only bury it."

He said he hoped the government would accept the responsibility for a proper inquiry.

Mr. Bonner termed Mr. Strachan's remarks "an insult" to the members of the legislature.

HIGHEST COURT

The legislature is the highest court there is in British Columbia, he said.

He disagreed that the committee could not handle the inquiry. It could secure a lawyer and could summon witnesses as well as seek any documents it requires, he said.

His thwarted motion has been turned in to the Clerk of the House and will duly appear on the Order Paper. As soon as it does, the government can call for its debate. This will be on Friday. The government majority will assure its acceptance by the House.

So it looks as though the matter will in fact end up in the committee.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

By the time his vacation is up, Bob Shepherd, a 46-year-old department manager at Hudson's Bay store, will have gone 21 miles farther than he intended.

Mr. Shepherd is one of 25 middle-aged Victoria men who are staying in shape by participating in the local YMCA's "Swim the Strait of Juan de Fuca Contest."

The men go for a swim, ranging in length from 10 yards to two miles, each day in the "Y" pool and record their distance. In order to "swim the strait" a man must swim 21 miles or 1848 lengths of the pool.

Each day, Mr. Shepherd has faithfully done his lengths in the pool at the motel at which he is staying during his California vacation. He now has six miles to go to end his swim and intends to keep swimming even though this year's contest has already been decided.

Winner this year was William Bill who is now starting to swim back from Port Angeles.

Editor of The Centurion, the Victoria College humor magazine, struck another blow for freedom of the press recently.

Because they spent $118 on producing a lavish issue, editors Daniel O'Brien and Bob Bell came under fire from student authorities for overspending.

In retaliation, they produced a three-inch by four-inch issue with most of the humor set in type so small it was close to invisible to the naked eye.

Latest publicity release from the Department of Recreation and Conservation could, I suppose, be published under the heading "Sending Coals to New Castle..."

Or "California Here We Come!"

At any rate, B.C. Lions quarterback Joe Kapp will return to his native California to promote British Columbia as part of the "B.C. Salutes California" goodwill tour March 4.

Now a resident of Vancouver and after 18 months "a solid B.C. booster," Kapp has more than a dozen newspaper, television and radio interviews lined up in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Kapp, still a big name in California football, joins 70 provincial and civic government and tourist officials who are making the week-long swing to California.

It may be a little early to worry about a water shortage this summer but in case you have—relax.

Greater Victoria water commissioner Ronald Upward told the water board Tuesday that the reservoirs are almost full now and there should be no problem with water supply this year.

Two Victoria photographers were developing film in their commercial darkroom Sunday when the police radio squawked: "Accident on the Pat Bay Highway."

"I guess we better go," said one, reaching for his coat. "Naw," said his colleague. "By the time we get there it will be too late."

"Well, maybe I better go and you can stay here and finish up," said the first.

"Forget it," said the second.

Minutes later the police radio blared again... "Will you please send another ambulance? There's a bus in a ditch."

"Awk!" cried the second photographer.

Conversation overheard between a sports car buff and his girl friend, discussing what would be a good name for a child.

He: First name should be Colin and the second name Chapman.

She: I like Colin, but why Chapman for a second name?

He: Named after THE Colin Chapman, of course—the man who designed the Lotus racing car!

Frank Mackenzie Ross, 72, former lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, returned to his old school, Tain Royal Academy, Scotland, on the occasion of its 150th anniversary celebrations. He left the school more than 50 years ago to join the staff of a local bank, and then migrated to Canada.

Now staying with friends in Tain, Mr. Ross will receive the freedom of this northeast highland town in April. Mrs. Ross, who is chancellor of the University of British Columbia, plans to join him there soon.

Mrs. Lois Haggen, who represents Grand Forks in the B.C. Legislature, is a firsthand authority on gold mining in the Cariboo.

"When I was in the Royal Bank in Quesnel," she says, "I had to handle the pokes of placer gold sent in by 37 shippers, and I learned to distinguish the shipper from the nature of the nuggets."

"I was once offered the clean-up at Iowhee if I could lift a particularly heavy nugget. I sprained my back trying and was none the richer for the effort."

Mrs. Haggen says most people are surprised when she tells them she once played the piano for miners' dances at Quesnel.

The Queen has one and so has Premier Bennett and you can have one too.

What is it? It's a long-playing record of the world's greatest singers.

What's so special about it? The first thing is it costs only $3.98 for a monaural recording and $4.98 for a stereo, which is a very reasonable price to pay to listen to, among others, Maurice Chevalier, Ahn Shelton, Doris Day, Edith Piaf, Louis Armstrong, Ella Fitzgerald, Mahalia Jackson and Nat King Cole.

But the LP is also unique in that all of its profits will go to help refugees. It was produced for the UN High Commissioner of Refugees by an advisory committee headed by Yul Brynner.

Copies may be obtained in Victoria at Eaton's or The Bay.

NATO Allies 'Cool' To U.S. Arms Plan

PARIS (UPI)—The United States today renewed an invitation to its NATO allies to join in a multi-national sea-borne nuclear force armed with Polaris missiles. The reception was cool.

The program was explained in a soft sell approach to the NATO permanent council by President Kennedy's special emissary, Livingston T. Merchant, and by U.S. NATO Ambassador Thomas K. Finletter.

But Britain's permanent delegate, Sir Evelyn Shuckburgh, left no doubt the British Conservative government does not agree with Washington on all details.

Despite U.S.-British talks in Washington last week, Britain wants the force to be based as soon as possible aboard nuclear submarines instead of surface vessels, as the United States has suggested. It also favors the idea of a 10-nation "executive committee" to supervise operations—an idea in which the United States has little interest.

French President Charles de Gaulle has rejected the whole plan.

New Tugs on Job

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two new 65-foot steel tugs, the Gulf Diane and Gulf Muriel, launched simultaneously for Gulf of Georgia Towing Company have finished trials and are on active service.

"There is no need for anyone to surmise or impugn that Mr. McPhillips would have said something else if he had the guts because I know Bert McPhillips and he is not such a man."

(This apparently was in answer to a statement by Norman Pittam, president of the Oak Bay Conservative section, that Mr. McPhillips' "personal reasons" for withdrawing his name were that he had been "appalled at the depth of certain members of his executive who have stabbed him in the back during his absence in Ottawa.")

DIEF SUPPORTED

Mr. Charman declared himself a "Diefenbaker man." claimed Liberal leader Mike Pearson was incapable of leading his own party and therefore could not make a good prime minister and declared that the opposition parties had "vaccinated" on nuclear arms and had "connived" to create friction between Canada and the U.S.

He said the opposition had obstructed the last Parliament, particularly by deliberately prolonging the question period while legislation was held up.

The Conservative candidate said this convinced him it may be time to change some centuries-old traditions of parliamentary government in the Commonwealth.

"The time has passed when minority rights can be trammeled on, so some of these traditions—and there was a time when safeguards were needed—may not be so necessary today."

BOSSES LAUGH AT BANKRUPT BARON

'Too Broke to Look Poor'

LONDON (AP)—Baron Nuttall of Clonlest complained today he's too broke to look poor.

And that, explained the baron, is why he can't get a good enough job to pay off his debts.

"I went for a job as a cab driver in a Saville Row suit and the boss just laughed at me," said the 45-year-old peer.

"He thought I was doing it for a bet."

"If I'd worn jeans and a sweater, I suppose I would have got the job. What they didn't know was that I couldn't afford even shabby clothes."

"All I have are Saville Row suits."

Saville Row is London's top tailor quarter. Prices start at about the equivalent of $150.

After that, said the baron, he tried to get a job as a sales assistant. That was even worse.

The first person I met in the shop had once been my father's valet.

U.K. A-Subs Give Boost To Shipyards

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's hard-pressed shipbuilding industry will receive a shot in the arm from big government contracts for construction of nuclear submarines which is due to begin later this year, it was disclosed today.

An admiralty spokesman said the total construction program for five nuclear submarines will cost about the equivalent of $840,000,000. At least $560,000,000 will be spent in British shipyards, he said.

Nikita Firm on Test Controls

(Times News Services)
MOSCOW — Premier Khrushchev said today it is "impossible" to expect Russia to increase its offer of three on-site inspections annually as part of a nuclear test-ban agreement.

Khrushchev was speaking to voters from his Kalinin election district of Moscow at a meeting in the Palace of Congresses in the Kremlin.

He said Russia was following a policy of peaceful co-existence with the west "under complicated conditions."

But Russia would go on, not giving way to the difficulties, to ensure that the world followed the line of solving vexed international issues by means of negotiations.

Khrushchev is a candidate to the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) of the Russian Federation. Elections will be held Sunday.

"In the age of rocket-nuclear weapons, the policy of peaceful co-existence is the only sensible policy," the premier said.

HIS COEXISTENCE theme clashes with Peking's views of a tougher policy in dealing with the West.

WANTS CO-EXISTENCE

"The general line of the foreign policy of our state," he said, "is to uphold and strengthen peace, to assert the principles of peaceful co-existence in the relations between states with different social systems."

Khrushchev devoted his opening remarks to Soviet agriculture, saying that "the Soviet people are maintaining a good pace in peaceful economic competition with the United States of America."

On the industrial front, he said per capita increase was 48 per cent in the last five years compared with only eight per cent in the U.S. over-all, he said, the national income in 10 years has been growing at the rate of 9.2 per cent compared with 2.7 per cent in the U.S.

Referring to the Soviet offer of two-to-three inspections a year, Khrushchev said:

"It is a serious concession from our side and it is impossible to expect more from us."

Despite all Soviet efforts no agreement on complete and universal disarmament has been achieved so far, Khrushchev said. The difficulty lay in the fact that while the Soviet negotiators has in mind only the dangers of war, the capitalist negotiators, representing monopoly interests, think of the immense profits derived from an armaments race and war, he said.

Khrushchev said that what the Western negotiators want before agreeing to a nuclear test ban is to be able to spy in Soviet territory for NATO.

Each time the Soviet government makes a concession in the Geneva talks, the U.S. government puts forward another demand to make agreement impossible, he said.

OSTLER OPENS CAMPAIGN

Stability Called Main Vote Issue

The prime issue in the current federal election campaign is a return to stable government and economic growth, Liberal Robert Ostler said Tuesday in opening his campaign for the Esquimalt-Saanich seat.

He said suggestions that John Diefenbaker could lead the nation out of its present "morass" automatically raised the question of who led Canada into the morass, he said.

"For more than five years we have had a 'do nothing' government," Mr. Ostler charged, at a public meeting in Liberal headquarters, Government Street.

He said it was a "government that has demonstrated no ability to direct, to lead, to initiate."

We appear to have survived the verge of bankruptcy and the exchange crisis austerity partly because of our inherent strength—the strength of our people, our resources and the past foundations laid for our economy."

Mr. Ostler said it would be irresponsible for any party to make promises of large-scale increases in federal spending while the country was still struggling to pull itself out of economic difficulty.

One-Way Streets Must Come, Says Mooney

One-way streets and a parking ban on Government Street will not come this year or next, but they must come eventually, Ald. Millard Mooney told a meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce retail merchants and transportation and harbor groups Tuesday night.

Provision of more off-street parking was the key to these moves, Ald. Mooney said and land for another lot or two might be bought this year out of the parking meter fund.

Prisoner Slain

Young Men Without Jobs

WHEN THE RESOUNDING oratorical assertion that our youth is our most precious and valuable asset dies on the air all over this continent, the public is left with a few statistics which are not swept neatly under the rug of rhetoric.

In the United States, for instance, President Kennedy has noted that out-of-school youth from age 16 to 21 comprise only 7 per cent of the labor force, but 18 per cent of the unemployed.

No comparable figures are available for the equivalent ages in Victoria. But the National Employment Service, in its quarterly statistics to January 31, lists the number of "under-20-year-olds" as something less than 8 per cent of the jobless male applicants for work. This does not mean that we have less than half as many young men out of work, on a percentage basis, as has the United States. Our high schools conventionally carry students up to 18 or 19, and obviously those over 19 looking for work will be numerous, since they, generally speaking, form the post-high school group seeking employment.

Dr. John B. Macdonald, in his report on higher education and plans for the future in British Columbia has noted that "an increasingly serious problem has been that of unemployment because jobs for the unskilled become scarcer and scarcer as machines replace men. Concurrently the province is experiencing a shortage of skilled and professional people."

He and others of like mind advocate either higher or specialized education for young people to fit them for occupations of the future. But not all the young people in the group currently leaving school before or at junior matriculation have the abilities to master specialized technical training or academic study.

What happens to this section of our society in the era when unskilled labor becomes even more unwanted than it is today—when, according to one informed estimate, only 5 per cent of all available jobs will be open to the unskilled by 1970 in the United States?

It may be unrealistic to attempt to apply all American thinking on this question to Canada. There is, nevertheless, a parallel between the incidence of juvenile delinquency among unemployed youth in the

A Century of Service

IT IS JUST A HUNDRED YEARS since men of compassion and good will, acting on the proposals of Henri Dunant, formed the Comité International de la Croix-Rouge, adopted the Swiss flag with colors reversed as its emblem and set the Red Cross on its crusade of mercy.

The movement, born of efforts to relieve the anguish of war wounds and their frequently fatal results, has expanded over a wide field of humanitarian action since that time. It now provides such services as blood transfusion, disaster relief, water safety, veterans assistance, volunteer women's work, sick room supply loans, outpost hospitals, home nursing, missing

So Near and Yet So Far

FOR NEARLY FOUR YEARS the news from the disarmament conferences has been monotonously unproductive. Sometimes it has been optimistically phrased, sometimes pessimistically. But the meaning has always been the same: "No agreement."

Now, however, a more detailed clarification of the position has been

United States and in Canada. This is only one of the points which concern American authorities who are studying the waste of human resources caused by unemployment.

In an effort to cope with the situation, President Kennedy has outlined a program to absorb youth at present without constructive employment. One project calls for the enrolment of jobless youth in organizations patterned somewhat on the lines of Civilian Conservation Corps of the thirties. These boys would work at jobs improving the country's forest and recreation lands—a magnified example of British Columbia's forestry department boys' crews. In this province, however, openings are available for only 150 boys a year, for summer months employment—jobs which are eagerly snapped up by students of high school age.

The Kennedy plan seeks, moreover, to establish a sort of domestic "peace corps" in which a small and carefully selected group of men and women of all ages would function in mental health centres, in hospitals, in Indian reserves, among migrant workers, and in depressed areas.

The President's plan envisages much more—and emphasizes the provision of educational opportunities for those capable of benefiting from them.

Of course the scheme is costly. On the other hand, it can be argued that failure to produce a program would also be costly—is already costly in terms of wasted human capacities and in diversion of youthful energies from constructive employment to delinquency and crime.

At this stage of Victoria's thinking on the subject, major efforts are concentrated on providing the educational chance that should be the right of every capable child. In addition, various agencies, many of them private, try to help young people when they become antisocial products of their conditions and surroundings.

On the basis of National Employment Service quarterly statistics—which cannot tell the whole story because the age grouping does not reach high enough—this community has a relatively minor problem of unemployment among youth today. What will it be when automation moves further into industry and business? What is being done, apart from discouraging school dropouts, to meet the problem that is already foreshadowed?

I am writing to you to protest, in as energetic terms as possible, the erection of an apartment house on King George Terrace.

I bought the house in which I live on this street 18 months ago precisely because it is a neighborhood of private houses, wholly without stores, theatres, factories, or apartment houses, and I am completely and unalterably opposed to a move which will increase traffic and noise, reduce property values, and destroy privacy.

The proposed rezoning of the street to permit such a structure could only be viewed as an act of bad faith on the part of the elected members of the Council of the Municipality of Oak Bay.

CHARLES VYNER BROOKE

What's the Difference?

With reference to Highways Minister Gaglardi's comments in the House on a U.B.C. professor's statements about God, one wonders what is the difference, from a standpoint of freedom, between a professor in a Communist country not being allowed to state his belief in God and a professor in Canada not being allowed to state his disbelief in God. Presumably Mr. Gaglardi's private system of logic could make all clear.

Contrast In Behaviour

In the past five years I have been at the Government Buildings on several occasions to enjoy the freedom of sitting on the floor. We disagree on fewer things, but more intensely. It seemed more hopeful when we disagreed on everything but not so strenuously.

THE RUSSIANS have at last made up their minds, at least provisionally, on the line to take about the Franco-German Treaty.

It is still rather a wavy line. But it takes in at least one fixed point: the Treaty, if ratified, will be a victory for Dr. Adenauer and Bonn, and therefore a defeat for almost everything else. The French interest in this delightful marriage is virtually ignored: General de Gaulle might not exist, except as a card in Dr. Adenauer's poker-hand.

So far the new press campaign against the Bonn government has not been very coherent or subtly articulated. Not so very long ago the Mayor of Peking, Mr. Peng Chen, defied all good communists to deduce what Soviet foreign policy really was from Mr. Khrushchev's words and actions. Reading the Moscow press broadsides against Dr. Adenauer one sympathises with Peking.

Is the Franco-German pact to be regarded as an astute American move to bring forward the day when West Germany, seen as America's most useful and powerful ally, will dominate a federated Europe? Or is it to be seen as an act of defiance towards America on the part of a West Germany already well on the way to dominating Europe, using General de Gaulle as a pawn to this end?

The Russians do not say—or, rather, different commentators say first one, then the other. All they are so far agreed on is that West Germany is making the pace and that everything it does is wicked.

Behind this fanfare and brouhaha what do the Russians really think about our German cousins? It is almost impossible to dredge up a clear answer, because they hardly know themselves.

Or, rather, they think a number of things, often self-cancelling. They are not quite alone in this.

Certainly there is a genuine popular fear of Germany throughout the Soviet Union. And this will persist until the survivors of the fearful German onslaught in World War Two are dead and gone.

The popular fear has, for reasons of expediency, been sedulously exploited by the hard-faced men in the Kremlin. But what do these characters themselves believe?

It is fallacy of the hardest dying kind to believe that because the leading politicians of all lands are worldly-wise, cynically inclined, detached from the egotism of the many and sharply aware of the "real" motives behind all things human they are also immune from the irrational panics and enthusiasm of the masses. They too take their colour from the popular mood—of which they are, indeed, in a large sense the living embodiments.

Khrushchev is fascinated by Germany's industry, skill, discipline and organising genius; appalled by the weight she can bring to bear once she has decided where and how to move; contemptuous of her literal-mindedness and pedantry; a little awed by the decisiveness of her foreign service, which in complexity matches Russia's own and in smoothness exceeds it.

The Germans in his eyes are dangerous enemies but the trickiest of friends. He knows that all policies based in 1945 on a predication of future German behaviour have been rendered meaningless by the advent of rockets and megaton bombs.

But he asks himself all the same

(again he is not alone) what is the purpose of this old-fashioned military alliance, with heavens knows what secret annexes, concluded within the framework of what, to Russian eyes, looks a perfectly good existing alliance (NATO), and putting military teeth in a highly selective manner into what was supposed to be a unified commonwealth of nations?

And so he thinks back. The Soviet view of the progress of Dr. Adenauer has a beautiful simplicity—and it is a simplicity which has been borne-out, to all appearances, by events to a degree rare where Soviet prognostications have been concerned.

First, West Germany, representing itself as the natural shield of the West against Bolshevism, would so play on American fears that America would pour dollars into the country and build her up into a formidable bastion. This happened—and Moscow's own, by no means negligible contribution to this consummation (without which it would not have happened), is ignored by Moscow.

Second, having made this stupendous recovery, West Germany would work for the federation of a Europe which she could hope to dominate, and this is manifestly on the way to happening. The Russians are duly impressed, both by their own foresight and by German tenacity-of-purpose.

The next stage was to have been Germany, at the head of a unified Europe, turning once more on the Soviet Union at the very least to recover her lost borderlands.

But the advent of the hydrogen bomb, with its stabilising effect on existing frontiers, made nonsense of this simple picture.

Mr. Khrushchev has digested this new fact. He knows that the hydrogen bomb has put an end to war, and that his worst nightmares about a renewal of German aggression are out-of-date.

But, although he knows all about the hydrogen bomb, he also knows that he and President Kennedy are the only two statesmen in the world today who since Cuba, have really digested the lessons of nuclear power. And he is disturbed by the lack of balance injected into a precariously balanced mutual terror sys-

University Building

Ottawa Journal

THE astonishing thing about Carleton University's growth is not only that it opens new buildings and extensions in batches of seven—as it did over the weekend—but that there is no pause before the next surge of growth.

President A. Davidson Dunton did not even have the consolation of being able to reflect comfortably on Carleton's new resources. His speech at the official opening ceremonies was far more a survey of the task ahead than a eulogy of the work completed.

The most conspicuous part of Carleton's campus is still probably the construction equipment; the steel girders against the sky. And if Mr. Dunton's projections of student enrolment are right, Carleton as well as every other growing university will long be familiar with disrupted landscaping.

Even the ivy—if university buildings were still decorated with ivy—couldn't keep up with the contractors.

The building booms at both Carleton and Ottawa universities are of course only part of the story. We hear now of new names, Brock, Trent, York, Laurentian, Windsor, all Ontario universities even younger than Carleton.

The old debate over how many students should go on to college is becoming obsolete. Parents and students, not professors or politicians, seem to be telling us how many buildings, how many universities we must provide.

FROM WASHINGTON

Playing a Game for High Stakes in the Middle East

THE president is currently considering whether to move additional units of the Sixth Fleet into the Red Sea. The movement has been proposed by the U.S. fleet commander in the Mediterranean, in fulfillment of U.S. pledges to Saudi Arabia. These pledges are in question, in turn, because of the signs that an attack on Saudi Arabia is at least being considered, if not actively prepared, by Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Alsop

Saudi port of Yanbu, which would be a logical target for an Egyptian landing preparatory to a move on Jidda. This air drop of arms in the Arabian Desert is still inadequately explained, but it has the look, at least, of being intended to prepare for a landing.

Nasser's threat to invade Saudi Arabia puts a term of sorts, or at least ought to put a term to what can only be called a Chester Bowles chapter of American diplomacy. The chapter began with Bowles's selection of an eminent Middle Eastern do-gooder, John Badeau, as ambassador to Cairo. Badeau at once set about making warm friends with the Egyptian dictator, who has never failed to bite the hand that fed him.

Impressive Signs

The signs that Nasser may yield to this temptation are rather impressive. To begin with, he has frankly told at least two recent American visitors that he intended to wind up the Yemen affair by "going to the root of the matter" in Saudi Arabia; and he has added that his troops "could be in Jidda," the second Saudi capital near the sea coast, "in no more than two or three days."

In the last fortnight, Nasser has also quite disproportionately increased his shipments of his Soviet-provided arms into the Yemen. This suggests preparations to move on the ground against the Saudi Arabian border oasis of Najran, which Egyptian planes have already bombed.

Finally, 20 tons of air-dropped Egyptian military equipment have been discovered in the empty desert near the Saudi port of Yanbu, which would be a logical target for an Egyptian landing preparatory to a move on Jidda. This air drop of arms in the Arabian Desert is still inadequately explained, but it has the look, at least, of being intended to prepare for a landing.

The chapter began with Bowles's selection of an eminent Middle Eastern do-gooder, John Badeau, as ambassador to Cairo. Badeau at once set about making warm friends with the Egyptian dictator, who has never failed to bite the hand that fed him.

Policy Adopted

Badeau's be-nice-to-Nasser policy was also adopted by the assistant secretary of state for the Middle East, Philip Talbot, who is another of Bowles's appointees. One result was the American decision to recognize the Egyptians' puppet regime in the Yemen, on the basis of a cynically false promise by Nasser to withdraw his troops if recognition were extended.

Among the Middle Eastern policy-makers, the blame for Nasser's broken promise is given to the British rather than to the promise-breaker, on the ground that Nasser really would have called home his troops if the British had followed the Americans in recognizing the Yemeni puppets. "If you can believe that, you can believe anything," is the only possible comment.

Cease Helping

By the same token, the head of the Saudi government, Prince Faisal, has been strongly pressed to cease lending aid and comfort to the Yemeni popular resistance. Prince Faisal's contention, that a Nasserite Yemen will be a dagger at Saudi Arabia's heart, has been fairly dismissed. It has even been contended that Nasser's Yemeni puppets will help to show Prince Faisal the road to progress and reform.

It can be seen, then, why it is fortunate that the president has taken the matter personally in hand. It is high time for a hard-headed judgment such as the president can be expected to make.

The stakes in this game, after all, are the important American interest in Saudi Arabia, the equally important American interest in neighboring Kuwait, and the British interest in Kuwait, which is, almost literally, a matter of economic life-or-death for Britain. Hard-headedness is certainly in order.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Borrowing
In January
At High Level

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Canadian federal, provincial, municipal and corporate borrowing in January reached a total of nearly $1 billion, highest point for January in years, largely due to the $300 million Hydro-Quebec issue floated in the U.S.

The monthly record of new Gordon Bell financing published by James Richardson and Sons shows municipal and provincials at $421,290,605; federal government, including treasury bills, at $350,000,000, and corporate borrowing at $186,468,000.

Cumulative total of Canadian borrowing for the six months to January 30 is nearly $2½ billions—with the federal government accounting for $955 million, provincial and municipal over $953 million, and corporations just a little over $541 million.

In addition to the $300 million Hydro-Quebec issue, the major part of three $25 million issues of Saskatchewan government, Manitoba Hydro and City of Montreal was placed in the U.S. A number of small issues also went to the U.S.

A second foreign car assembly plant in Canada is a possibility.

Last week the Swedish Volvo firm announced it would assemble autos near Halifax and this week officials of the French Renault company are investigating possible locations for a similar plant.

The Renault men say that whether or not they decide on a plant they are investigating the use of Canadian raw materials.

Former Bank of Canada governor James E. Coyne, who resigned in July, 1961, after a well-publicized dispute with the government, has been elected chairman of the board of York Trust and Savings Corp., Toronto.

He had been working as a private financial consultant.

Canada Safeway Ltd., third largest supermarket chain in Canada and largest in the west, is considering a move into the Ontario market.

W. B. Monkhouse, B.C. property manager for Safeway, said in Toronto this week that the company is studying a possible expansion into the Toronto area, southern Ontario and such cities as Sudbury.

The move would be partially to offset increasing penetration of western Canada by such eastern-based chains as Dominion, Loblaw and A & P.

Assets and profits of Crown Trust Co. increased over 10 per cent in 1962, it was reported at the annual meeting today.

Earnings for the year amounted to $2.70 a share.

General manager E. T. Godwin pointed out to the meeting that frequent issues of rights dilute the value of shares and that Crown Trust had had only one rights issue in its history.

Shortly before his death in 1944, beloved humorist and eminent economist Stephen Leacock wrote a delightful little essay about trust companies called "Other People's Money."

Royal Trust Company has reprinted the essay in a handsome pamphlet.

There's a lot of wisdom, as well as humor, in the piece which ends with these words of advice:

"... Do not expect a trust company to be at once a rock of refuge and a gold prospector. You can't have it both ways. The main thing is to keep your money, which is more than you yourself can do, alive or dead. Where the field of the trust company ends—that is—at a small and remote farm fence—look for an honest man. But keep away from get-rich-quick companies, professors, people who make indexes and prophets not registered in the Old Testament ... I think that's all."

Student Gov't At College Faces Overhaul

By LESLIE MILLIN
Times College Correspondent

Details of a plan to re-organize student government at Victoria College and streamline operations along big university lines have been released by student officials.

Highlights of a new student constitution to be presented for a referendum vote soon include:

- Payments of honoraria totalling $650 annually to certain student officials;
- Incorporation of the all-student Alma Mater Society under the provincial Societies Act;
- Posting of a $1,500 fidelity bond by the AMS treasurer annually;
- Assumption by students of the right to raise money by issuing debentures;
- Reduction of responsibility by the AMS for student discipline;
- Guaranteed minimum annual grants of funds for athletic purposes.

AFTER ELECTIONS

These innovations are all contained in a draft constitution for the Alma Mater Society which will be presented for approval of students late in March after the current student elections are over.

Responsible for preparing the new constitution are students' council treasurer Jim Taylor, and student union building director Bryan Ralph, who have been working on it for virtually the entire academic year.

Approval of the wording of the new constitution has been given by the Alma Mater Society's legal advisers.

Incorporation of the society is an idea borrowed from the equivalent student organization at the University of British Columbia, and is designed to limit the liability of student council members for debts of the society, as well as give the group a legal status.

Payment of honoraria was recommended by a student investigating committee, and the $650 annual total is made up of:

$200 annually to the president of the AMS;

$150 each annually to the treasurer, the editor of the student newspaper (The Martlet), and the editor of the yearbook (The Tower).

POWERS CUT

Powers of student discipline presently exercised by the students' council are to be drastically cut under the new scheme.

Maximum fine that may be imposed on a student is to be dropped from $25 to $5, and the Alma Mater Society specifically waives responsibility for any student act unless it is in connection with some event planned and sanctioned by student officials.

Left open in the new constitution is the question of the annual AMS fee levied on all students.

Presently set at $24, the fee is considered too small to finance student programs adequately.

Student officials would like to see the annual fee boosted to about $30, but the Victoria College Council indicated some two years ago that it would not allow the fees to be hiked above $24.

Solution Asked For Open Bridge Traffic Tie-Ups

Victoria Labor Council Tuesday asked City Hall to figure out some way of eliminating rush-hour traffic bottlenecks when the Johnson Street bridge is raised for passing ships.

The VLC letter said many complaints have been received from workers trying to use the bridge to and from their jobs.

The minister of transport informs us that although an order could be issued to have the bridge closed during these periods . . . it would be much better to have the local arrangement than to restrict the heavy traffic into the upper Victoria harbor."

The letter said that although local arrangements had helped in the past, a better answer still was needed and it asked "every effort be made to arrive at some solution to the problem."

ACCESS STUDY SET UP AGAIN

The legislature Tuesday agreed to set up its access committee again.

The House gave unanimous consent to a motion by Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston calling for re-constitution of the special committee set up last year to investigate public access to private roads.

The committee this year will study draft legislation on the issue.

BALCER DECIDES TO RUN

QUEBEC (CP) — Transport Minister Leon Balcer, 46, will be the Progressive Conservative candidate in Trois-Rivières for the April 8 federal election, it was announced Tuesday.

The party's Quebec City headquarters made the announcement. Mr. Balcer has represented Trois-Rivières in the House of Commons since 1949 and has been transport minister since October 1960.

Nearly 28,000 Canadians borrowed thousands of sickroom supplies from Red Cross Loan Cupboards maintained in 584 communities across the nation last year. This is a free service.

FOR MONTREAL PSYCHIATRIC PATIENTS

Clay-Moulding Under Hypnosis? It Works!

Times College Correspondent

CLAY is being molded by Montreal psychiatric patients while they are under hypnosis, a world authority on hypnosis has told Victoria College students.

Known as sensory hypnosis, the technique enables the patient to simulate primitive associations freely, and is used as an adjunct to psychoanalysis, said Dr. F. N. Marcuse.

Dr. Marcuse, professor of psychology at Washington State University and author of the standard work "Hypnosis, Fact and Fiction," was addressing a behavioral science colloquium at the college on rampart, exploitation rather the topic Contemporary Research in Psychology.

Other work on hypnosis being done in Canada includes its use with chemical anesthetics to achieve balanced anesthesia, he said.

USEFUL TOOL

Dr. Marcuse stressed that hypnosis is not a panacea or cure-all, but simply a useful tool that can be used by psychologists and doctors.

Research in the field has been hampered, he said, because of the difficulty of adequately controlling experiments. He quoted a Japanese psychologist as saying:

"In a field where quacks are than exploration is more common."

Dr. Marcuse, who is compiling another book on hypnosis, gave students some examples of research now being done around the world.

Hungarian research, he said, has centred on the problem of susceptibility, with researchers attempting to determine the personality configuration of the subject who is hypnotically susceptible, by profile analysis.

MASOCHISM

Hypnophiles—persons with an inordinate desire to be hypnotized—are subjects of research in Holland, where it has been found they tend to have a high degree of masochism.

Hypnosis and cancer are being jointly studied by English psychologists, and the use of hypnosis in preparing incurable patients for death.

Lack of research in Europe can be explained by the fact that medical doctors rather than psychologists are often in charge of research programs, said Dr. Marcuse, and doctors are more interested in application than research.

Anti-Semitism Denied

LONDON (Reuters) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev has denied Western allegations of anti-Semitism in Russia as "a crude falsehood, a malicious calumny on the Soviet people and on our country."

ASIAN FLU OUTBREAK STILL SPREADS IN U.S.

CHICAGO (UPI) — A massive outbreak of influenza covered 29 states today and kept thousands of students and workers home in bed.

The U.S. public health service said the danger of Asian flu is expected to wane by the middle of next month but many areas in the eastern half of the nation reported rising sickness rates.

Bacon and Eggs served up in a pie:

BACON AND EGG PIE

1/2 lb. bacon, uncooked and chopped, 2 eggs, 1 1/2 cups milk, a few grains of salt, a few grains of Malkin's pepper.

Line a pie plate with pastry. Place the bacon on the pastry. Mix and beat together the eggs, milk, salt and pepper. Pour over the bacon. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake at 350° until the custard is firm or until a blade of a table knife inserted in the centre comes out clean, about 20 to 30 minutes.

Tips: This is a souffle kind of pie—it rises quite high. Other ingredients may be added or substituted for the bacon, such as canned or cooked mushrooms, dried celery or parsley flakes, shredded raw carrots, bits of cooked sausage and so forth.

ROUND AND ROUND THE TAX MONEY GOES

CASLEBAR, Ireland (AP) — The Mayo County Council has just learned the county is taxing itself and paying the taxes to itself.

Moreover, the taxes are collected by a man the county council pays to collect taxes.

"This," fumed Councillor J. E. Leneghan, "is the dastardly thing I ever heard of."

The situation was brought to light at council meeting when one of the 30 members questioned a tax bill against the county for £1,974 ($3,922).

"To whom," asked Councillor H. J. Kenny, "is it proposed to pay this sum?"

"To ourselves," replied the county accountant.

"And do we employ a man to collect the money?" asked Councillor J. S. Blawick.

"Yes," was the reply. "This is also covered by the regulations."

"I will certainly ask the government in Dublin to carry out an investigation into this ludicrous affair," said Leneghan.

The council then voted to appropriate £1,974 to pay itself the taxes it owes itself.

CHINESE REDS DEMAND APOLOGY BEFORE TALKS

'Double Dealer' Charge Against K

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China said today it is ready to begin private talks with the Soviet Union on the ideological issues splitting the Communist bloc. But it couched this offer with a slashing attack on Premier Khrushchev for "double dealing" and demanded apologies. The editorial and its slashing criticism indicated the Chinese-Soviet relations are as angry as ever despite recent public signs of attempts to ease the quarrel. Peking's conditions for peace talks are clearly unacceptable to Moscow.

The Chinese for the first time took public notice of (1) Russia's supply of MiG-21-jet fighters to India, (2) the tearing up by Khrushchev of hundreds of Chinese aid contracts and (3) his bitter opposition to Chinese Chairman Mao Tse-tung's pet programs—the industrial leap forward and the peoples' communes.

Without naming names, the paper charged that in 1960 "certain comrades" put economic pressure on China. This was clearly Khrushchev's Russia.

"Disregarding international practice," it said, "they periodically and unilaterally tore up agreements and contracts they had concluded with a fraternal country. These agreements and contracts are to be counted, not in twos or threes or in scores, but in hundreds."

Secret Tip Marks Arrest Of Fugitive

PARIS (Reuters)—The arrest of another top Secret Army Organization fugitive today threw into a turmoil the trial of 15 men accused of trying to assassinate President de Gaulle last August.

Guy Sari, one of six defendants being tried in their absence, was arrested after a weekend shooting incident in which a French policeman was wounded, police disclosed today.

The announcement of Sari's arrest followed the capture Tuesday of former Colonel Antoine Argoud. The top Secret Army leader was found tied hand and foot in a truck near Notre Dame Cathedral after an anonymous telephone tipoff to the nearby Paris police headquarters.

The right-wing newspaper L'Aurore said French secret agents may have kidnapped the terrorist leader from West Germany to avoid "international complications" over his extradition.

The military court today adjourned until Thursday.

Hospitals To Seek More Money

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver General Hospital has joined forces with the B.C. Hospital Association in pressing for more financial assistance from the B.C. government.

Association President J. V. Hughes said Tuesday the group hopes to meet with the provincial cabinet soon to present the hospital operating cost picture in the province.

Financial difficulties facing many hospitals came to light last year when Vernon's Jubilee Hospital could not meet its payroll for 130 employees because a B.C. Hospital Insurance Service cheque was late.

The association, which represents all hospitals in the province except Vancouver General, was critical of Health Minister Martin's policies at its annual meeting in Penticton last October.

TCA Aircraft 'Incubator' For Baby

MONTREAL (CP) — A TCA Viscount flying from Val d'Or to Montreal Tuesday turned into a flying incubator to save the life of a one-week-old baby.

Forty passengers sweltered in 85-degree heat as Gerald Roy, a two-and-a-half pound infant, was being rushed to Montreal for an urgent operation.

Gerald had hydrocephalus, an accumulation of liquid on the brain, and had to be kept in a 90-degree incubator. The incubator could not be operated aboard the Viscount, however, during the 100-minute flight.

As passengers sat uncomfortably in their shirtsleeves, two stewardesses filled bottles with boiling water to keep the incubator at the required 90 degrees.

The baby arrived at St. Justine Hospital 25 minutes after the plane landed, where he is to be examined before the operation is performed.

Disagrees With Dief

MONTREAL (CP) — Peter Kerrigan, nominated Progressive Conservative candidate in Montreal St. Antoine-Westmount riding Tuesday night, said in his acceptance speech he disagrees with the Diefenbaker government's stand on nuclear arms.

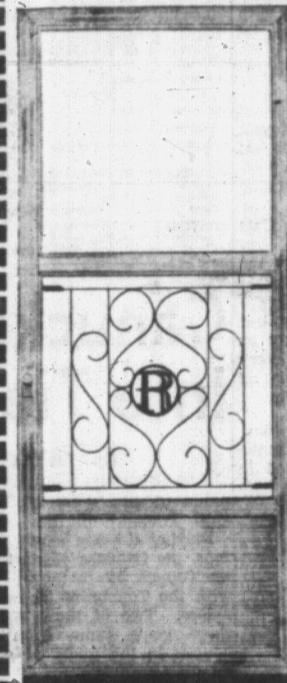

"I believe that we must accept tactical nuclear weapons for the Bomarc squadrons and the air division in NATO," he said, "because our own national security has of necessity been placed in the hands of NATO."

His nomination was not opposed. Mr. Kerrigan told his audience he had made it clear that he could only accept nomination if his personal views were allowed to vary from those of the government.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—The championship football game between the Giants and the Packers was more like a supervised riot than an athletic contest. Since then, Sam Huff, the Giants' middle linebacker, has been denounced for playing dirty football by the infuriated partisans of Jim Taylor, the Green Bay fullback.

The criticism has agitated Huff, who contends the abuse is slanderous. This is his defence of his acts which he insists were viciously legitimate and within the boundaries of the sport's protocol.

"I've been a sportsman and athlete all my life," explained Huff. "I play the game by the rules. I play hard, and that's the only way I know. You're not much of a man if you don't stand up and tell your side when you're accused of being a cheap-shot artist."

"Some people do my job better. Some don't do it as well. But I have pride in what I do. When some one calls you a dirty son of a gun, you have to stand up and fight. I play football 100 per cent. The Giants have always played it 100 per cent."

It's a Game of Mental Pressure

"They knocked me to build up bowl players ... knocked me before the Pro Bowl game ... a game I wasn't even playing in. They're still giving it to me, all over the country. They don't have the right to ride me on what I did to Jim Taylor in the championship game."

This is a game of mental pressure. I don't want to be known as an undercutter ... Sam Huff, the undercutter. I play football to the best of my ability. I want people to say they'd like to have their kids taught football by Sam Huff. I don't want them to say they don't want their kids coached by Sam Huff. That means a lot. I have pride."

"Rough football is hitting as hard as you can. An offensive man is up, you can't talk to him. You go 100 percent. Dirty football is stepping on a man's hands ... gouging him in the face ... slugging him. Things done to create bodily injury. Piling on ... which they accuse me of ... is something the referee has to judge."

The defensive man can't help piling up sometimes. If I could stop that fast, I'd be a back. My job is to follow the ball. A man going after the ball gets momentum up. You can't stop when you want to. Pull up and you're a sitting duck. Sometimes you're hit by the ball carrier's teammates trying to block you and get knocked into a pile-up."

"You can always find little things a man shdn't do if you watch carefully enough. An official can call holding on every play if he wants to. If he called every little thing, football would just be a game of penalties."

* * *

"Jim Taylor's a great football player. He's tough to play against. But he's not tougher than Jimmy Brown. Jimmy Brown never said I was dirty. The Giants held him to eight yards one time. We must have been playing pretty rough. But Jimmy Brown knows we weren't dirty."

* * *

"Jim Taylor talks all during a game. He says things like 'the next time I'll run over you,' or 'I'm going to ram it down your throat.' His own players tell me that in the huddle he says things like 'Give me the ball and I'll sting them.' I've been in this league seven years. I've never been in a fist fight. I've only had two unnecessary roughness penalties called against me in seven years. How can I be a dirty football player?"

"Football's gotten faster, but not rougher. The face mask is great. I still have all my own teeth. It's hard to deliberately hurt a player. The equipment is so good. There's no advantage to playing dirty."

Dirty Players Aren't on the Team

"A guy can get by playing dirty. They'll respect a dirty football player. He's dangerous. He can hurt you. But the coach on his team won't appreciate him. He's not on the team when he's playing dirty."

"I got hit on the head early in the game. My headgear was crushed. It has a big dent in it. I don't remember too much about the first half. But no one was playing dirty against me. It was just rough."

"Why are they making a hero of Jim Taylor? I hit Jimmy Brown just as hard. You do the same thing with Jim Taylor and Jimmy Brown. You gang-tackle them. But did you ever hear anything from Jimmy Brown? I've hit him hard as Leifer hit anyone and he'll say 'nice tackle, Big Sam.'

"What happens on a football field should be left on a football field. That's where I leave it. When I see a guy I played against later, he's a friend. But the fans in Green Bay hung me in effigy."

After the football season Taylor was laid up with hepatitis. Sam want's it understood it wasn't huffatitis.

Scottish Boot Clubs Defeat Summer Plan

GLASGOW, Scotland (Reuters) — A move to introduce summer soccer in Scotland was defeated at a special meeting of the 18 first-division and 19 second-division Scottish clubs here Monday.

The next season will run as usual from August until the end of April.

Twelve of the clubs voted for summer football with 25 voting against the proposal. Advocates of summer football, led by Kilmarnock, Dunfermline and Motherwell, had suggested a season from March to November, cutting out the winter months when grounds might be unplayable and matches likely to be cancelled.

The current British cold spell, which has prevented some clubs in Scotland from playing since the middle of December, provided ammunition for the clubs in favor of summer soccer. But two of the most powerful clubs in Scotland, Rangers and Celtic, strongly favored leaving the season as it is.

Next game: Tonight—Chicago at Toronto.

Izvestia Blasts Off At Russian Coaches

MOSCOW (AP)—Izvestia let go an icy blast Tuesday at Soviet coaches for the poor showing by Russian men skaters in the world title competition at Victoria, Japan, last weekend.

The government newspaper scolded the coaches for lagging behind in training methods and for "small intrigues" among themselves.

Izvestia said the success of Norwegian and Swedish men skaters was not due to some "medical secret" as some people claimed, but to "systematic training" which started in April of last year.

Yanks' Mantle Joins Elite $100,000 Club

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Mickey Mantle signed his contract with New York Yankees for $100,000 today, joining Willie Mays in the six-figure salary class.

Mantle's 1963 pay is about $15,000 more than he's reported to have received last year.

The 31-year-old switch-hitter was a named American League's most valuable player and led the Yanks to the pennant despite a series of crippling injuries.

Mantle wound up with a .321 batting average and 30 home runs. Without him in the lineup, the Yankees sagged. With him, they staged a strong drive and won comfortably.

Three other greats of the game earned $100,000 in one season. They were Joe DiMaggio, the old Yankee Clipper, Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox and Stan Musial of St. Louis Cardinals.

Yankee officials, in a statement signed by co-owner Dan Topping and general manager Roy Harney, said they were glad to pay Mantle $100,000 and hoped that other Yankees in the future would be worth as much.

Harney broke with tradition to show Mantle's contract to reporters.

DiMaggio received $100,000 in 1949, 1950 and 1951 and was offered the same contract in 1952 before he announced his retirement. He now is a special coach during training activities.

Mays broke into the $100,000 class last Wednesday.

Canadian Skate Star Sidelined by Accident

CORTINA DAMPEZZO, Italy (UPI)—The Canadian pair team of Debbie Wilkes and Guy Revell today withdrew from the world figure skating championships as the result of a fall Miss Wilkes took Monday.

The 15-year-old Unionville, Ont., skater was posing for pictures when the accident happened. Revell, her 21-year-old partner, was holding her above his head when he slipped.

Miss Wilkes fell on the back of her head.

NO CONCUSSION

She was X-rayed at a local hospital and when doctors found no indication of a concussion she was allowed to return to her hotel. But a Canadian spokesman said she had remained in bed and "does not feel very well." She declined to talk to anybody.

The Wilkes-Revell team won the North American championship earlier this month and was Canada's main hope in the world pairs competition.

They officially withdrew today when it became apparent that Miss Wilkes would be unable to skate.

German Proves Worth By Firing Game-Winner

Victoria Daily Times WED., FEB. 27, 1963 15

TIME OUT! JEFF KEATE

AUTOMATIC PIN SPOTTERS

The "honest workmen" always seem to pick up their just rewards around playoff time.

That's how it is with Bill German.

German, a leftwinger with Pontiac Chiefs in the Esquimalt District Hockey League, scored only four goals in regular play. The last one he scored came in a game exactly a month ago.

Tuesday, German connected for his fifth. No 5 turns out to be his most important effort. It was the winner as Esquimalt All-Stars edged their rivals from Victoria's Independent Commercial League 4-3.

German, who has yet to pick up a penalty this season, scored his game-winner at 17:40 of the final period.

It gave Esquimalt a 2-0 lead in the best-of-five series that, in effect, is for the Vancouver Island intermediate title. Winners advance along the Coy Cup playoff trail to meet Powell River for the Coast title.

Both games have been decided by 4-3 scores. And both, could have, just as easily, been won by the IAA team as by Esquimalt.

IAA sharpshooters had a slight edge in play in Tuesday's game at the Sports Centre, outscoring Esquimalt 32-24. Three times Esquimalt bounced into the lead . . . three times IAA tied it up.

The first two games of the series have provided intermediate hockey followers with some of the best action of the season. Game No. 3 is scheduled to be played at Memorial Arena next Monday.

Johnny Morris, explosive forward from the Navy, joined German in the spotlight by scoring twice for Esquimalt. Sandy George collected the other goal for the winners while Toby Wilson, Gary Fletcher and Wayne Ashworth counted for IAA's select.

Ten penalties were called, including a misconduct and game misconduct, to Wilson late in the game.

McLean's Tally Helps Cougars To Island Title

Victoria's midget Cougars took the cue from the Vancouver Island bantam champions. Now the Cougars sport an Island crown.

Nanaimo won the bantam series last weekend by building up the big edge in the first of the two-game Island series.

The Victoria midgets tried the system. Victoria by a 7-4 count Monday. Cougars dropped a 3-1 decision at Nanaimo Tuesday but the early bulge held up for an 8-7 series' triumph. Cougars now meet the mainland champions for the Coast midget title.

Dunc McLean scored the only goal for Cougars Tuesday.

Victoria's juvenile and pee-wee teams are also in the running for Island titles. Only the bantam Cougars have been sidetracked from the playoff trail.

Shuttle Show

Competition in the British Columbia open badminton tournament will get under way Thursday at the Racquet Club. Play was originally scheduled to start tonight, but tournament officials announce that out-of-town entrants will not arrive until Thursday and local entries were not sufficient to open the meet tonight.

Other fourth-round results were: Quebec 12, Manitoba 3, Ontario 12, Newfoundland 4, Nova Scotia 14, Prince Edward Island 6, Alberta 10, Saskatchewan 7.

The only New Brunswick loss came at the hands of Ontario veteran Mrs. Emily Wooley of Toronto in a thriller on Monday.

Shipowners Ask Help From Ottawa

Ottawa (CP)—The Canadian Shipowners Association has accused the government of a "lamentable lack of interest" in the shipping industry.

The association, representing 20 firms, said in its annual report made available here Tuesday that labor problems and the high cost of construction for deep-sea vessels in Canada made competition with foreign vessels impossible.

"More stable and . . . realistic maritime labor regulations are a prerequisite to a revival of the industry," the report said.

In order to stay competitive in the trading patterns built up since the Second World War, Canadian operators had resorted to chartering foreign-owned and manned vessels.

Chartering of foreign vessels had resulted in a $125,000,000 deficit in Canada's balance of payments situation last year. This compared with $4,000,000 surplus in 1950, when there were 115 Canadian-owned and manned ships.

At the end of last year, the report said, there were six Canadian-owned deep-sea vessels fully manned with Canadian crews. Two of these were no longer registered in Canada although Canadians still owned 500,000 gross registered tons of deep-sea vessels.

TCA Plans To Buy 50 New Jets

MONTREAL (CP) — TCA may have to spend more than $200,000,000 to replace its Viscounts and Vikings in the late 1960s, air line officials said Tuesday.

They said TCA plans to start retiring the turbo-prop airliners in late 1965 or early 1966 and is already shopping around for medium-range jet aircraft to replace them.

The project now was in the "technical evaluation" stage. Six types of aircraft were being considered and a decision would probably have to be made next year.

Other aviation sources said a choice is likely to be made between the Douglas 2086, a United States plane not yet in production; and the British Aircraft Corporation's BAC III, expected to make trial flights this summer.

TCA owns 22 Vikings and 49 Vikings and, as replacements, "We are thinking at present in terms of 50 jets over a period of years, worth in excess of $200,000,000 for aircraft and spare parts," the spokesman said.

U.K. Proposes Malaysian Constitution

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain today unveiled constitutional proposals for the proposed new Malaysia federation which is scheduled to be formed Aug. 31.

The federation is due to comprise Malaya, Singapore and the British Borneo protectorates of North Borneo, Sarawak and Brunei.

The constitutional proposals were published in a report produced by a committee set up last year with representatives from Britain, Malaya, North Borneo and Sarawak.

The report proposed that the head of state of Sarawak and North Borneo should be nominated jointly by the monarchs of Britain and Malaya.

The two monarchs customarily make such nominations on the recommendations of their governments.

The federal linkup has been opposed by Indonesia and the Philippines. But this opposition was considered to have only strengthened the desire of the territorial leaders to join forces in a powerful federation.

PROPOSES GRANT

The new report on the federation said Britain has promised a grant of £1,500,000,000 a year for five years toward development of Sarawak and North Borneo on the understanding the Malaya also will extend aid to the territories for five years.

Initially the legislative assemblies of each of the three Borneo states will elect members to the federal House of Representatives.

But the report said direct elections to the federal assembly should be introduced in North Borneo and Sarawak for the first national election in 1968 or earlier if the government of the two states agree.

Malaya should be the national language of the federation, but for at least 10 years English also should be in official use, the report said.

TROUBLESHOOTER for the United Nations, Ralph Bunche, is being sent to Yemen for talks with leaders of the new republican government, it was announced today by UN Secretary-General U Thant. Yemen is one of the tension areas of the Middle East.

All four nominating conventions in the province Tuesday were for Progressive Conservative candidates. They brought the total number of PCs nominated for B.C.'s 22 seats to 14. The Liberals have picked 17, the NDP 15, Social Credit 10 and the Communists three.

At Penticton, Stuart Fleming was nominated to contest Okanagan-Revelstoke, the seat he has held for the Conservatives since 1958.

The Liberals were also the subject of an attack by Harold Hicks, nominated to contest the Fraser Valley seat he lost to Social Credit in the last election.

Mr. Hicks, who defeated his 1962 campaign manager, Oscar Dayton, in a convention at Mission attended by 170 delegates, said the Liberals had chosen to ignore their responsibility and instead practised organized obstruction of public business.

Provincial PC president Col. Cecil Merritt told the delegates to get out and answer charges that the Conservatives have been a do-nothing government. This had been "a banner year for Canada under Conservative economic policies."

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (Reuters)—Colonial Secretary Duncan Sandy said today Britain is pressing for early independence for the British colony of Kenya.

He said nothing is holding back Kenya's independence.

"We are trying to push it as soon as we can."

'WHY THE GRUMBLING?'

Education: 38c an Hour

Greater Victoria school system is educating pupils at a cheaper rate than they would pay for music or dancing lessons, aldermen were told Tuesday.

School superintendent John Gough told a joint meeting of trustees and aldermen that the district's per pupil costs average 38 cents an hour.

That's the result of spreading the $9,380,073 1963 budget over the total of some 25,000 pupils in the system, each of whom receives about 1,000 hours of instruction a year.

"I don't see why people should grumble at that when you relate what seems to be a staggering figure to the cost per pupil," he said.

Parents paid out much more for private swimming, ballet or music lessons for their children, he said.

The 7.34 per cent increase in this year's budget reflects a yearly school population growth of about 1,000.

The group was told that the city share of the costs will not be known until after the provincial government announces how much it will contribute in grants.

"It concerns the public welfare."

The extra $135,000, according to these documents, was paid to L and M Logging Co. by the highways department.

It was for project 819, 12.8 miles of Trans-Canada Highway between Craigellachie and Kay Falls, near Revelstoke, for which L and M got a $1,597,335 contract in 1957.

Record Juggled

The extra payments involved a juggling of a work record and, outright padding, according to Mr. Holzworth's affidavit.

Mr. Holzworth's affidavit said that after he became president of Union Contractors there was a meeting with principals of the previous company, L and M, which it took over March 3, 1958.

"Mr. Bert Lymburner brought up the subject that he had been paying the organist in Mr. Gagliardi's church $350 per month and the question was whether this practice would be continued by Union Contractors."

Despite his objections, the affidavit said, it was decided Clyde W. Thornton, vice-president of Union, would continue to make the payments.

The organist was identified as Mrs. Florence Gresty, a former Social Credit candidate.

Mortgage Trouble

Mr. Holzworth's next allegation was that a Mr. V. L. Gresty (believed to be the organist's husband) was in danger of facing a criminal action about a mortgage.

"Clyde W. Thornton, vice-president of Union Contractors, advises me that Mr. Phil Gagliardi called him and asked him to arrange to pay off the amount involved, which was $6,702.30, and that Union Contractors would accordingly be well taken care of by the department of highways."

Mr. Dowding tabled with the affidavit a copy of a cheque for $6,702.30 made out in the name of Kennedy and Andrews, signed by Union Contractors and dated November, 1958.

He also tabled a receipt for the cheque, and the assignment of the mortgage from its previous holder, Herbert H. Gillespie, to Mr. Thornton.

Mr. Dowding identified Mr. Gresty as a highways department employee in 1958-59.

Estimate Altered

Next evidence read from the affidavit concerned Estimate No. 5 and a work sheet from the Revelstoke project.

"I have discovered that estimate No. 5 on Road Project 819 was altered to the extent of $35,000 by changing the figures of solid rock and other material; our copy does not bear the signature of the resident engineer whom we are advised refused to sign it."

Mr. Dowding said it appeared a total of $35,300 "in excess of the amount due on that work" had been paid by the government "by falsifying data."

Photostats of the work sheet dated Oct. 31, 1957, showed a figure of 31,400 yards of solid rock at $1.71 per yard and another figure of 57,500 yards of "other material" at 40 cents a yard. It was signed by E. C. Webster, director of construction and also by E. H. Barclay, resident engineer, who certified it was correct.

Knew About It

However, a photostat of Estimate No. 5, in account for the same work but dated Nov. 30, 1957, showed a figure of 58,400 yards of "solid rock" at the higher price, $1.71, and 30,500 yards of other material at 40 cents. It was signed by Mr. Webster but not by Mr. Barclay, the resident engineer.

Mr. Holzworth's affidavit said he came to Victoria last month and confronted the highways department with this information.

"Mr. Webster told us that they knew about this change and that it was alright."

He then mentioned Estimate No. 4.

It had been increased by $100,000.

A photostat showed the estimate, dated Oct. 31, 1957, was for a total of $168,184.

Mr. Holzworth's affidavit said he had been told about this by a Harvey Campbell of Creston.

"I know of my own personal knowledge that there was neither equipment nor facilities or capability on the job to move the amount of material during this month that is shown on the estimate; I further investigated the payroll for the period of Estimate No. 4 and find that it does not bear out the fact that this additional material was moved during that period of time."

Estimate 'Padded'

Mr. Dowding said it appeared the estimate had been "padded" to show $200,000 more work than was done or could physically be done.

NO MONEY DOWN

Mr. Holzworth's affidavit concluded by saying that all the extra money paid to L and M Logging—not Union—for work that had not been done, Mr. Dowding also tabled a letter from Mr. Holzworth's attorney, Everett W. Gross of Helena, as well as a statement made by Mr. Holzworth to an FBI agent, John R. Breckenridge.

The attorney in his letter indicates that the FBI on behalf of the U.S. Federal Reserve Bank is conducting an investigation of the dealings between Thornton and the bank manager of the 1st National Bank of Bonner's Ferry in the light of serious discrepancies in the bank's affairs, Mr. Dowding said.

Both Convicted

Mr. Dowding also pointed out that Mr. Gagliardi and Mr. Thornton were both convicted of contempt of court in 1960 when the highways department paid off a $76,696 cheque to the contractor violating a court order demanding payment of creditors.

This cheque was held by the U.S. bank manager, James H. McNally.

Mr. Gagliardi was fined $1,000. Mr. Thornton was jailed.

The statement by Mr. Holzworth to the FBI man said Mr. Thornton and the bank manager carried on certain transactions without his knowledge. These included a $445,000 overdraft and issue of large amounts from the Union account to Mr. Thornton. There were also $35,000 worth of cheques made out to the bank manager personally.

He said Mr. Thornton admitted "juggling funds."

There was also a $60,000 shortage in deposits made to the Union account, Mr. Holzworth said.

Mr. Holzworth's affidavit follows:

"I, Dick Holzworth, being first duly sworn do depose and say on oath: that I am the President of Union Contractors, Ltd., which corporation succeeded L & M Logging Co. in the completion of road project No. 819 in British Columbia; that at about the time that Union Contractors succeeded L & M Logging Co. there was a meeting held at the farm house office on the road project and Mr. Bert Lymburner brought up the subject that he had been paying the organist in Mr. Gagliardi's church $350 per month and the question was whether this practice would be continued by Union Contractors; I objected to any such further payments and said I wanted nothing to do with it but the other parties decided that Clyde W. Thornton, who was Vice-President of Union Contractors, should continue the payments and arrange the money out of Union Contractors' funds; the organist, I was informed in December of last year by Harvey Campbell of Creston, B.C., was Mrs. Florence Gresty."

"That Mr. V. L. Gresty was summoned in on a matter of information and discovery in the matter of a certain mortgage that was irregularly given and it appeared that criminal prosecution might be instituted against him; That Clyde W. Thornton, vice-president of Union Contractors, advised me that Mr. Phil Gagliardi called him and asked him to arrange to pay off the amount involved, which was $6,702.30, and that Union Contractors would accordingly be well taken care of by the department of highways; I am attaching a photostatic copy of the estimate No. 5 and a work sheet from the Revelstoke project.

"I have discovered that estimate No. 5 on Road Project 819 was altered to the extent of $35,000 by changing the figures of solid rock and other material; our copy does not bear the signature of the resident engineer whom we are advised refused to sign it."

It had been increased by $100,000.

Mr. Holzworth's affidavit said he had been told about this by a Harvey Campbell of Creston.

DEBATES TO BE TAPE?

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's public works department is thinking of wiring the provincial legislature for sound and tape-recording legislative sessions.

Fred Colborne, public works minister, told the legislature Tuesday his department has not yet decided whether such a system is feasible.

He spoke during debate on a perennial motion, put forward this year by Ernest Watkins (PC - Calgary Glenmore) calling for a verbatim report of debates and discussions of the assembly.

The motion was defeated 49 to 9.

Air Marshal's
A-Arms Views Oppose Dief

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Washington Daily News says Air Marshal C. Roy Slemon of the RCAF is campaigning against Prime Minister Diefenbaker's nuclear policy by briefing influential Canadians flown to the North American Air Defence headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo.

The newspaper says in a report from Colorado Springs that the latest group to be flown there was the Toronto Board of Trade. Previously, there had been trips by 28 Canadian weekly newspaper editors and members of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

However, a NORAD spokesman, asked to comment on the report, said that while Slemon has spoken to a number of Canadian groups he has not campaigned in any way against the prime minister and has no intention of intervening in Canadian politics.

Sgtm. Ldr. Lloyd Morrison of Deloraine Man., a NORAD information officer, said the newspaper report "contains inaccuracies and has perturbed the air marshal."

Diefenbaker has maintained he will not allow U.S. nuclear warheads to be accepted on Canadian soil for Canadian weapons unless war is imminent.

NUCLEAR RESPONSIBILITY

Morrison said Slemon, deputy NORAD commander, has responsibilities to both Canadian and U.S. governments and firmly believes nuclear weapons are essential for Canadian interceptors and Bomarc missiles if North American air defence is not to be weakened.

He said Slemon did not induce the various Canadian groups to visit NORAD. The visits were requested by the groups involved.

The Washington Daily News story says Slemon painted a grim picture of what might happen to Canada if it obtained no warheads and could not prepare for a possible enemy attack. The newspaper quotes Slemon as having said: "We are no longer Canadians here. We are North Americans."

1,000 Boost
Population

The rural population close to Greater Victoria has increased by almost 1,000 since the last enumeration of voters was made 10 months ago, the Esquimalt-Saanich returning officer, John Davies, has reported.

The tabulation of urban voters' lists in his area has not been completed so he is unable to give any indication of population moves there in the past 10 months.

But increases of about 1,000 persons have been noted in the Glen Lake, Metchosin and Sooke areas and from Elk Lake to Sidney.

In the Victoria federal riding, returning officer Edmond J. de St. Jorre said there appeared to be some small population shifts. Tabulation has not progressed sufficiently to enable any firm estimates to be made.

Swami Maharaj Speaks Sunday

Swami Maharaj, leader of the 1,000-member Spiritual Regeneration Movement in Canada, will speak on "Deep Meditation" at a meeting of the Victoria group of the movement in Lougheed Banquet Hall, 1406 Douglas Street, Sunday at 8 p.m.

The Swami Maharaj is a disciple of the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, the Eastern mystic who came to Victoria in October 1951 and started the Spiritual Regeneration Movement here.

The Victoria group now has 110 followers.

The Maharishi Mahesh Yogi is on a speaking tour of the United States as part of a world tour.

His disciple, the Swami Maharaj, will arrive in Victoria Saturday morning and stay at the Hotel Douglas. As head of the movement in Canada, he plans to make his headquarters in Calgary.

Nanaimo Man New Deputy For Fisheries

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. A. W. H. Needler, 56, today was named deputy minister of the federal department of fisheries, succeeding George R. Clark who died earlier this month while attending fisheries meetings in Tokyo.

One of the world's leading fishery scientists, Dr. Needler has spent 35 years studying fishing resources of the Atlantic and Pacific and has been director of the department's biological station at Nanaimo since 1954.

Last month he was named chairman of the fisheries research committee of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

A native of Huntsville, Ont. Dr. Needler studied at the University of Toronto and joined the fisheries research board in 1926 to direct a study of the Atlantic oyster, working from St. Andrews, N.B., research station. He became director of the station in 1941.

Between 1948 and 1950 he held a similar role as director of the station and assistant deputy minister of the department.

Dr. Needler was moved to the west coast research station from St. Andrews and has been responsible for the development of studies on salmon, halibut and herring stocks in the Pacific. He has worked on seven international commissions studying world fisheries problems.

He is married and has six children.

NANAIMO—City council Tuesday gave final reading to a rezoning bylaw which will permit Newcastle Realty to build the city's first high-rise apartment at Comox Road and Front Street.

Council also agreed to meet the civic properties and recreation commission, and Hub City Kiwanis Club to discuss a beautification project. It was to meet druggists today on store hours.

NANAIMO—Quebec will eventually break from Canada, beginning the disintegration of Canada as a nation, Air Marshal Sir Philip Livingston of Qualicum Beach predicted at a public meeting sponsored by the Nanaimo Dry Cleaning and Laundry Workers' Union.

For this reason, as well as others, Sir Philip said there is an urgent need for leadership.

A coalition government "probably" would be best for Canada during these difficult times but, eventually Quebec will break away from Canada and "there will be formed a United States of North America," he said.

Sir Philip said the U.S. is "absolutely right in asking us to carry out our (defence) commitments . . . there is no unilateral victory, only mutual defeat."

NANAIMO—Progressive Conservative candidate W. F. Matthews rejects the theory that a nuclear war would destroy civilization.

The Nanaimo candidate in a weekend speech here said: "People have always warned of the end of civilization."

"They said it about the bow and arrow, the rifle, dynamite—yet we are still here. It will be the same with nuclear war."

"During the last two wars the most terrible thing of all was not used—bacteriological warfare. Christian principles still prevail, that is why the great conquerors of history have failed."

Rites Friday For Former Elks' Leader

Funeral services will be held in Hayward's funeral parlor Friday at 1:30 p.m. for Raymond Edward Jones, 57, of 118 Pryde Street, Nanaimo, who died Monday in Vancouver.

Mr. Jones was manager of Canfor Products, Nanaimo, and was the 1949 exalted ruler of the Benevolent Order of Elks, Victoria Lodge No. 2.

Born in Victoria, Mr. Jones was also a member of the Royal Arcanum, Knights of Pythias, and the Victoria Hustlers' Club.

He is survived by the widow, Amy; two daughters, Mrs. John Carruthers of St. Andrews, N.B., and Wendy of Nanaimo; a son, Dennis, of Sarnia, Ont.; two grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. E. Law of Seattle, and five brothers in Victoria, Leslie, George, David, Wilfrid and Gordon.

DID 'CHEEKY' RN SUB TRICK U.S. DEFENCES?

LONDON (Reuters) — The London Daily Mail reports in a front-page article today that a Royal Navy submarine penetrated U.S. anti-submarine defences in an operation recently.

The newspaper says HMS Orpheus surfaced "cheekily" off a giant United States submarine base at New London, Conn.

An admiralty spokesman said: "We cannot confirm there was such an exercise. Even if there was, we would not be prepared to comment on it."

The Orpheus set out from Garelochhead, Scotland, Jan. 6, after warning the United States it was on the way, the newspaper says.

The submarine took 14 days to reach the U.S. coast, dodging radar search aircraft and two killer-hunter submarines, The Daily Mail adds.

ON THE HUSTINGS

Nuclear Arms Hotly Debated

FIRST WOMAN chancellor of a Canadian university, Mrs. Frank Ross, was re-elected unopposed Tuesday night at a University of British Columbia meeting.

Share-Wealth Plan Urged By Liberal

The provincial government should allow municipalities to share in fluctuating revenues such as sales-tax, Alan Macfarlane (Lib.-Oak Bay) told the B.C. legislature on Tuesday.

The move has been requested by the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

The government has said this would result in municipalities getting monies budgeted to them in any year which these revenues were down. But, said Mr. Macfarlane over the past few years, these revenues have only gone up and never down.

He said provincial aid to municipalities has been going progressively down while in the other five western Canada provinces it was going up.

The Liberal member also called for federal subsidies for B.C. government ferries, saying that if the federal government can afford to build a bridge to Prince Edward Island it "should contribute generously to subsidies for B.C. ferries."

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
The nuclear arms debate is continuing at a high pitch in Canada's election contest.

Highlights from the hustings: In Penticton, B.C., Works Minister Fulton said the nuclear arms question, which precipitated the April 8 federal election, is "too serious to make it an election issue."

Liberal Mitchell Sharp, speaking in Edmonton, declared that efforts to turn the election into a plebiscite on nuclear arms are adding undesirable emotionalism to the nuclear debate.

He said New Democratic Leader T. C. Douglas is making nuclear policy a central issue in the campaign because "he has nothing very much else to talk about."

ATTACKS RIVAL PARTIES

In Calgary, Mr. Douglas accused his three rival party leaders of "trying to work both sides of the street on the nuclear issue." The NDP opposes acquisition of nuclear weapons by Canada.

Campaigning in Quebec, Liberal Leader Pearson accused the Social Credit party of hypocrisy on nuclear policy—saying the party favored defensive nuclear arms in speeches everywhere but in Quebec.

In Toronto, Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson conceded that he and his deputy leader, Real Caouette, disagreed personally on the nuclear arms question. But he denied this meant a split in the party.

Mr. Thompson reiterated his Quebec declaration that he would personally do all in his power to prevent Canada from becoming a nuclear power.

DEFINES NUCLEAR POWER

But, for the first time, he defined what he means by a nuclear power—one that manufactures weapons as opposed to one that employs such weapons for its defence.

Mr. Thompson said in an interview that he still believes Canada must honor its defence commitments, "but I don't know what the formal commitments are."

In Ottawa, former deputy defence minister C. M. (Bud) Drury, a Liberal candidate, argued that Canada has commitments to participate in the Western nuclear deterrent against possible Soviet attack.

Quebec Separatists Taking Action Now'

MONTREAL (CP) — Marcel Chaput, leader of the Republican Party of Quebec, said last week the April 8 federal election "will probably be the last time" Quebecers will send members of parliament to Ottawa.

"Because the next federal government may be the one with which we will negotiate Quebec's independence," the separatist leader said. "We must elect members of parliament who will be sympathetic to our cause and better disposed to accept independence for Quebec."

"We are through talking about independence. We are taking action now."

He also launched an organization called Le Republican (The Republican) as the party's official publication.

It contains a platform calling for membership in the United Nations and other international organizations for Quebec once independence is achieved.

WOULD JOIN OAS

Quebec would also seek to enter the European Common Market and the Organization of American States if it was in the best interests.

The party was opposed to storage and testing of nuclear arms in Quebec and would create a ministry of peace.

There would be a national lottery, schools divorced from religion, "for those who so desire" and allowances for expectant mothers.

Ambassadors would also be appointed to various nations and the Vatican.

Mr. Chaput said French would be the only official language and only French-language schools would definitely receive government grants.

He said English-language schools would be allowed to operate but it had not been decided yet whether they would get grants.

He said the English-speaking population of Quebec would be invited to remain but they have "serious" problems that would have to be solved. He did not elaborate.

A preface to the platform said the party will use only democratic means to obtain independence.

Plan to Bilk Aged Woman Thwarted?

VANCOUVER (CP) — An attempt to defraud an 81-year-old widow of $1,400 was thwarted Tuesday when her bank manager talked her out of withdrawing money from her account.

Police said at least one confidence man has bilked two other elderly women out of large bank accounts recently and it is believed the same scheme was attempted on Mrs. Clara Keatley.

Mrs. Keatley told detectives a man representing himself as a manager of her bank phoned her Tuesday suggesting a large amount of money had been stolen from her account by a bank employee.

He said the bank had a suspect in mind and if she would co-operate she would receive a reward of $1,000. She was told to withdraw $1,400 and a "bank representative" would call at her home later to get it.

She went to the bank but the manager, William Steele, denied making the call and advised her against the withdrawal.

She said that as soon as she returned home the caller phoned again and asked whether she had the money. When she replied that the bank officials wouldn't give it to her the caller hung up.

Last year, Canadian Red Cross medical, nursing and technical personnel served in the Congo and Morocco.

Times Team Tramp, Tramp, Tramping Along the Highway

Two Times staff members set out this morning to see just how tough a task it is to walk 50 miles in under 20 hours — the now-famous U.S. presidential fitness yardstick.

One is a lady, the other a gentleman. Neither professes to athletic prowess, neither is a physical cultist, and, at press time, neither knew whether the 50 miles walk would be completed.

The intrepid pair are Marg Gilroy, of the Women's Department, and Humphry Davy, veteran reporter and observer of nature.

Marines Did It

They caught 50-mile fever when the pros and cons of JFK's order to his marine corps were argued.

DISC JOCKEY LOSES CONTROL OF LEG MUSCLES AS TREK ENDS

A disc jockey in Edmonton is among the latest to test out President Kennedy's fitness yardstick — a 50-mile hike completed in under 20 hours.

John Dolan, 29, of radio station CHED, pounded the pavement between Wetaskiwin, and Edmonton from 9 p.m. Monday to 3:30 p.m. Tuesday to see if he could stand up to President Kennedy's fitness requirements.

The ex-soldier was cheered by a crowd of 200 as he arrived at his radio station.

Suffering from sore thigh and sore soles, Dolan had no control over his leg muscles after passing Ellerslie, about 10 miles south of Edmonton. A man on either side helped keep him pointed in the right direction.

Monte

I have been asked to find a place in the Old Jokes Home for the following Old Joke:

The trouble is, I am not convinced it is an Old Enough Joke to warrant free room and board in the Old Jokes Home.

In fact, the first time I heard this joke was when application was made for admittance to the Old Jokes Home.

Perhaps some constituent can let me know if this joke is old enough.

There was this wealthy country gentleman, see, and he loved to hunt ducks and pheasants and cougars and partridge and other fierce game.

But his greatest joy was not in the shooting of these fierce birds and animals; it was in the performance of the dogs who helped him hunt.

He had great, large, kennels, in which he kept a great, large number of dogs, both large and small.

He had pointers and setters, ganders and getters, retrievers and receivers. He had smooth-coated dogs, curly-coated dogs, and even shaggy dogs. (Don't let that throw you off the scent!)

But there was one dog he didn't have. And that was the Dog Who Can Do Everything.

So this very wealthy country gentleman let it be known that he would pay Any Price for a dog which can do anything.

One day there arrived at the country estate of this gentleman a dog trainer, accompanied by a dog, and this dog trainer claimed that his dog could, indeed, do anything.

So the wealthy country gentleman said, show me, and the dog trainer took his dog out into the fields, and the dog made perfect points, and the dog found small game in the roughest brush areas, and the dog retrieved with elegant style and a soft mouth, and the dog made more straight flushes than a riverboat gambler.

The wealthy country gentleman tried to conceal his interest, but the dog trainer was sure he had himself a customer.

"I will show you one more thing this dog can do," said the dog trainer, "and then I will sell him to you for a half billion dollars."

So the dog and the trainer and the wealthy country gentleman went to a large pond, over which a convenient covey of ducks was hanging around, waiting for action.

And the dog trainer out with his trusty shotgun, and shot down one of the ducks, which fell, ker-plunk, in the middle of the large pond.

On signal, the dog took off and trotted across the surface of the pond, retrieved the duck, and trotted back across the surface of the pond without even getting his pads wet.

"See?" said the dog trainer. "This dog can do anything."

"Oh, no he can't," said the wealthy country gentleman. "Why, that critter can't even swim."

Last chance for entries in the "I believe in Caddy contest." All entries must be in by Monday, winner announced one week from today.

Topics of the Day

Young goat owners will be en vassing door-to-door in Saanich Saturday for old bottles.

Members of the goat divisions of the 4-H Junior Farmers clubs, the boys and girls are holding the bottle drive to raise funds for trophies and projects.

The drive will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Clifford Found of the B.C. Highways Department spoke on "Christian Witness in Business" at the monthly dinner meeting of the Christian Business Men's Committee in Holyrood House Monday.

Saanich MLA John D. Tisdale presided.

Shooting victim Mrs. Elizabeth Hyndes was reported to-day in "fairly good" condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Mrs. Hyndes was shot in the stomach, back and wrist by Raymond Deyotte, who then killed himself with the same gun in the Rock Bay Apartments Feb. 16.

"She seems to be improving," a hospital spokesman said.

Clans to Gather Saturday For Indoor Highland Meet

Junior members of local clans will gather at Britannia Branch Legion Hall, 1616 Blanshard, Saturday morning for Victoria Highland Games Association's annual indoor meet.

They will start the day-long "games", with novice dancing at 2 p.m. by Lt.-Col. Michael Allen, of the Canadian at 9:30 a.m. and junior piping by Gordon Head all his life.

He owns one of the largest greenhouses in the province.

see if present-day marines can march 50 miles in 20 hours, as all marines had to do in President Theodore Roosevelt's time.

With the co-operation of various other staff members, who were anxious to do everything possible to help (short of actually walking) Marg and Humphrey laid out a 50-mile course up-island from the Fountain Circle.

North of Duncan

They were transported to their starting point, about eight miles north of Duncan, in the dawn hours, and started their marathon stroll at 7:15 a.m.

Their route measured by speedometer was planned to take them down Island via the waterfront — skirting Cowichan Bay Road, then back up to the Trans-Canada Highway, over the Malahat summit, and Highway No. 1 into town.

'Little Stiff'

They started off at a fairly brisk pace — although record-setting was not an objective — and by 10:15 had reached Duncan, where Marg persuaded Humphrey to pause for a cup of coffee.

Shortly after 10:30, they were intercepted at the Cowichan River bridge, about 11 miles from the starting point, by two associates from the Times.

"All well, but a little stiff," reported Humphrey.

Heels Chafe

"My heels are beginning to chafe," said Marg, cheerfully. "Could you get me a bandage or something from the drug store?"

At which Humphrey admitted that the condition of his feet, too, left something to be desired.

While Marg bathed her feet in the cooling Cowichan waters, a rush trip to the Duncan pharmacy produced materials which achieved at least temporary comfort, and the hike was resumed.

No estimated time of arrival has been set for the finish of the 50-mile walk — which, when the ups and downs of the Island portion of the Trans-Canada Highway are considered, is a mighty long 50 miles.

Longshoreman Draws $200 Fine On Assault Count

A longshoreman was fined $200 in city police court today for assaulting a customs officer at Ogden Point last Friday.

The officer, Donald McCulloch, told the court that Claude Peden, 1222 Glyn, had attacked him when he tried to question him.

Peden was employed that day in unloading spirits from the freighter the Caledonian Star at the pier.

Mr. McCulloch said he approached the accused as he left the ship, saying "I want to talk to you."

"At first he made as if to a conciliation officer was appointed recently. He was unsuccessful in settling the dispute in which the commission refused to accede to union request for wage parity with Vancouver policemen.

A three-man board will make a binding decision after a hearing.

A proposal by city engineer J. C. Garnett that the Corps of Commissionaires' parking meter patrols also be authorized to ticket cars that are illegally parked in loading zones or other situations was referred for study.

Commission was told that the policemen's union had taken strong objection to extending jurisdiction of the commissioners in traffic matters.

But Chief Blackstock said it "seems ridiculous" that a meter-patrolling commission had no power to ticket an improperly parked car as well as over-parked ones.

Commission authorized Chief Blackstock to attend the sixth annual Western Police Chiefs Conference in Calgary April 22-24.

It also instructed the chief to arrange a tour of the police building for the criminal justice committee of Victoria Bar Association.

Archer Hints City Needs Police Dogs

There's a future here for police dogs.

That became evident today when George Archer told city police commission he definitely would deal with the subject in his report on the police department.

Dogs were introduced successfully in Vancouver while Mr. Archer was police chief.

The commission, which budgeted $1,500 for experimenting with training three dogs and police handlers, decided to defer action until it receives Mr. Archer's report.

It also deferred decision on some improvements to the police building when Mr. Archer said he would be willing to consult with an architect regarding a complete renovation of the building's layout.

Throughout the meeting, Mr. Archer was busy taking notes on the commission's proceedings.

The commission was officially notified that the wage dispute with the policemen's union will go to arbitration.

The move was expected after a conciliation officer was appointed recently. He was unsuccessful in settling the dispute in which the commission refused to accede to union request for wage parity with Vancouver policemen.

A three-man board will make a binding decision after a hearing.

A proposal by city engineer J. C. Garnett that the Corps of Commissionaires' parking meter patrols also be authorized to ticket cars that are illegally parked in loading zones or other situations was referred for study.

Commission was told that the policemen's union had taken strong objection to extending jurisdiction of the commissioners in traffic matters.

$4,500 Fellowship Awarded Professor

Prof. Tony Emery, assistant professor of history and English at Victoria College, has been awarded a Canada Council Fellowship for a year's study and research in Canada, the United States and Europe.

With his wife and two daughters, Prof. Emery will leave here at the end of the college term for a tour of eastern Canada art galleries before continuing to Europe.

The fellowship, valued at $4,500 plus travelling expenses, provides for a year's study and research in three main fields:

1. The teaching of fine arts courses, practical and theoretical, at the university and art school level in Europe and the United States.

2. Patronage of the arts at the national, provincial and municipal level in various different countries.

3. The study of art collections in the major galleries of the U.S., Canada and Europe.

ESSAYS

During his travels, Prof. Emery will gather material for a volume of essays commissioned by Macmillan of Canada and a study of British post-war neo-Romantic painters.

"My tour of the art galleries will enable me to renew acquaintance with the best work of past and present, so that my teaching and criticism of the arts will benefit."

"It is 10 years since I was in Europe and in that time one forgets what art masterpieces really look like."

During his European travels Prof. Emery plans to visit Dusseldorf, Germany.

Spokesman for the Bay City police department said the suspect had used the identity of D. L. Brothers, Socred MLA for Rossland Trail, while in the U.S.

McCullough is wanted in Victoria in connection with the theft of Mr. Brothers' briefcase containing identification, credit cards and other papers from his Empress Hotel room.

He also is wanted here in connection with a number of subsequent forgeries and false pretences offences involving credit cards in the MLA's name.

But city police are awaiting the outcome of the San Francisco trial before attempting to lay charges.

It is believed McCullough also may be charged with illegal entry into the U.S.

Burglary Loot Found In Stolen Sport Car

City police investigating a stolen luxury sports car, which was located Tuesday, found in the car a quantity of clothing believed stolen overnight from Les Palmer's Men's Clothing Ltd., 714 View.

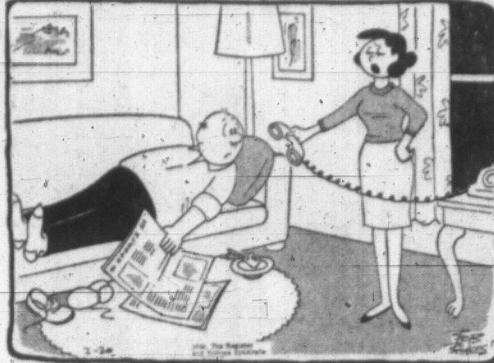

The car, a bright red model, was reported stolen overnight from Capri Motors Ltd., 1030 Yates.

A small office at the rear of the premises had been broken into and only the keys to the sports car taken, police were told.

No physical signs of entry to the clothing store were evident, although a small rear window appeared to have been broken from the inside, leaving a four-inch hole.

A kitchen window was broken and then unlocked to admit thieves who ransacked the premises from the inside.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Personalized Service Means It Has to Fit

By PENNY SAVER

With the thousands of dresses hanging on racks all over town, waiting for eager customers to come along, it is hard to imagine a shopper going home at the end of a day saying, "I couldn't find a thing." Yet I've heard it and even said it.

Well Penny has found a ladies' wear store that makes it almost impossible for you to ever utter those words again.

If you can't find what you want ready-made, they will make it. If it doesn't fit, they will alter it. If you can't find a pattern, they will design it. If you want that basic dress not quite so basic then that is the way it will be.

Even the time isn't much of a problem. Alterations are done almost immediately and a dress can be made in a week if you are in a rush. What more do you want?

Before you start in to have something made be sure to look over the ready-to-wear selections. There are smart new linen suits that start at only $12.95. Simplicity marks the style—straight skirts and trim looking box jacket.

One of the newest ensembles includes the shirt waist look. The top, which is pullover blouse with shirt-waist neckline, has three-quarter-length cuffed sleeves and can be worn either out or tucked in. Material is a dacron with a linen weave. Colors are beige and white or light green and white. Sizes range from 10-20 and the price is $24.95.

At $19.95 there is a beige and white washable cotton suit with a tailored but loose-fitting jacket.

Wash and wear terylene skirts that look like grey worsted are only a third of the price, $6.97.

Socks, sweaters, blouses and accessories are just a few more of the things you will find in this store.

Farewell Party

Fellow workers in the provincial department of agriculture honored Mrs. Dorothy Barlow, who is leaving the department shortly, at an after-five party in the Eickerton Court home of Miss Mona Jewell, on Monday evening. Also present were Mrs. R. Neill, Mrs. D. Rawlinson, Mrs. M. Marte, Mrs. E. Crowther, Mrs. B. Carlson, Mrs. D. Middleton, Mrs. B. Leg, Mrs. B. Gibbons, Mrs. A. Twamley and the Misses Mary Thompson, Joy Sims, Joan Griffiths, Lydia Clarke, Rae Smith, Clara Stevenson, Jean Wilkinson, Barbara Wright, Margaret Bell and Anne Kermode.

Surprise Luncheon

The Ernest Avenue home of Miss Kate Ede was scene of a surprise luncheon on Tuesday when her sister, Mrs. Ruth Beynon entertained in honor of Miss Ede's birthday. Other guests were Mrs. B. Mackay, Mrs. Walter Fletcher, Miss Reta Sergeant, Miss Evelyn Jones, Miss Lillian Barker and another sister, Miss Ada Ede, Vancouver.

Co-Hostesses

Mrs. C. Fletcher and Mrs. R. Clarke were co-hostesses with Mrs. E. Abercrombie when she entertained at a shower in honor of bride-elect Miss Susan Seaman. Decorations were in Valentine motif and gifts were presented in a red and white container. Red carnations were presented to the guest of honor and red and white carnations to her mother, Mrs. C. Seaman, and groom-elect's mother, Mrs. G. Whiteaker. Games were played and refreshments served featuring a decorated heart-shaped cake. Guests included Mrs. B. Haslock, Mrs. L. Clark, Mrs. J. Dicks, Mrs. W. Dicks, Mrs. H. Robinson, Mrs. G. Page, Mrs. M. P. Paine, Mrs. G. Johnson, Mrs. J. Humphries, Mrs. C. Flinton, Mrs. B. Cameron, Mrs. D. Lidstone, Mrs. C. Newman, Mrs. G. Langley, Mrs. J. Knowles, Mrs. A. Knowles, Mrs. R. Starkey, Mrs. E. Jack, the Misses Leila

Out-of-Town

Several out-of-town guests were in Victoria on Friday to attend the wedding of Miss Margaret Martin and Mr. David Dyer. They were Mr. and Mrs. A. Solway, of Port Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. J. Ferguson, of Ladysmith; and Mr. and Mrs. Mary Hicks and Mr. and Mrs. Mary Goodenough, all of Vancouver.

Hear Vows

Mr. and Mrs. L. Horsting came from Abbotsford to attend the wedding of Miss Virginia Bauer and Mr. Frederick McCord. Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Raine, of Vancouver; Mrs. H. T. Minchin, Salt Spring Island; Mr. and Mrs. D. Atkinson, Mr. G. McCord, Mrs. A. Kingston, Mrs. B. Ring, all of Walldorf, Ore., and Mr. R. McCord, Nevis, Alta.

For Bride-Elect

Mrs. Weldon Wallace, Miss Carole Gardiner and Mrs. William A. Robinson were co-hostesses at a shower, sherry party and buffet luncheon, held in the Arbutus Road home of the latter in honor of bride-elect, Miss Barbara Kerridge. Gifts were arranged around model of a plane in honor of the bride-elect and her fiance who are both passenger agents with Trans-Canada Air Lines. Gold and rust-toned orchid corsage was presented to the guest of honor and ribbon corsages to her mother, Mrs. L. Kerridge and grandmother, Mrs. A. Kerridge. Three-year-old Helen Robinson, who will be flower girl, helped to present gifts. Other guests were Mrs. Gordon Houston, Mrs. Donald Gardiner, Mrs. George Harrison, Mrs. Tom Kirk, Mrs. David Philbrick, Mrs. Dennis Hartley, Mrs. D. E. Rigg, Mrs. G. Macdonald, Mrs. Gerald Heald and the Misses Marilyn Macdonald and Joan Hansford.

White etamine evening gown from Paris, at left, is sprinkled with spring flowers. It's in the spring collection of Paris designer Yves St. Laurent. Centre, two-piece suit of black striped twill on a cream background from the spring collection of Jacques Heim of Paris.

Dyer-Martin Marriage Vows are Heard

St. Aidan's United Church was scene of a wedding last Friday evening that united Margaret Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Martin, 804 Vernon Avenue, and David H. E. Dyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Dyer, 1781 Keith Place.

Pink and white streamers and same floral decor as in the church were used to decorate the Bollermakers' Hall where the reception was held. A three-tier wedding cake, topped with pink rosebuds, was made by Mrs. Matt Brown and decorated by Mrs. Nancy Rippington. Some of the decorations had been used at weddings of the bride's sister and sister-in-law, Mrs. John Tait and Mrs. John Martin, in England.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown that had sequins trimming the sweetheart neckline of the lace bodice. Sleeves ended in lily points. Nylon net skirt was very full and highlighted with appliques of French lace. Matching waist-length veil misted from a coronet of sequins and seed pearls. Pale pink rosebuds and white freesia were in the bouquet.

Matron of honor Mrs. Robert Neil and bridesmatron Mrs. J. Milton Barnes, had made their gowns of pale pink satin brocade. Their headpieces matched bouquets of pink feathered carnations.

Challenge To Women

Calling all women, in all age groups, at home or in business in the Greater Victoria area.

Are you interested in learning more about civic government, why it functions, what are its problems and the background and needs for the many projects in Victoria City, Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Saanich?

Then join the recently formed Association of Women Electors, a non-profit, non-partisan group, formed to study and to learn.

Next meeting of the Association of Women Electors will be held in the Public Library Music Room on Thursday, commencing at 7:30 p.m.

There will be a discussion of the library problem in Greater Victoria and Neville Life, Saanich municipal engineer, will speak on sanitary problems in that area.

Any woman interested may attend.

Silver tea, Ladies' Auxiliary, Fraternal Order of Eagles No. 12, Thursday at 8 p.m. in home of Mrs. M. Hallam, 608 Esquimalt Road.

TOKYO

Greetings from Japan's capital—a bustling metropolis of over ten million—a city where East meets West, and where ancient traditions are inextricably intertwined with modern technology. From our windows at the Hotel Imperial or strolling on the Ginza, we see colourful kimonos alongside of grey flannel business suits; we visited the serene Shinto shrines and the Imperial palace—and admired the efficiency of big city offices. Above all, we marvelled at the nimble Japanese, whose skill and patience can produce an intricate electronic microscope, landscape a miniature garden, paint an exquisite scroll—or "operate" on a pearl-bearing oyster.

That brings us to the raison d'être for being here...the selection of cultured pearls. This industry constitutes a fascinating tale of romance, "big business" and man's skill. Like a huge marine monarchy, thousands of watery acres comprise the oyster farms. The "operation"—an insertion of tiny irritant bead—is performed by highly trained girls who live in nun-like seclusion to preserve manual dexterity and mental concentration. Their profession, like that of the diving girls, is passed on through generations; and each pearl cultivator jealously guards his "trade secrets".

Despite years of infinite patience and care, only about 45% of the oysters survive; and at most, about 5% yield marketable pearls. Nevertheless, the exotic enterprise produces over 50 tons of pearls annually, worth almost $30 million. The Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry maintains strict control over the traditional quality and prestige.

It's with regret that, after an enjoyable and profitable visit, we say goodbye to Japan...to embark upon a flight to Hong Kong.

It's Ash Wednesday, first day of Lent and from now until Easter, many housewives will plan main meals around tasty fish dishes like the one featured here.

Lenten Catch, Baked Fish Portuguese

"Catch on" to this new fish juice, 3 tablespoons salad oil, 1 tomato, chopped (about 1 cup), 1/2 green pepper, chopped (about 1/2 cup), 1/4 teaspoon dried basil, 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme, 1/4 teaspoon dried tarragon, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon salt, parsley, lemon wedges.

Place fish in a well-greased baking dish. Combine remaining ingredients, except parsley and lemon wedges. Spoon lemon vegetable mixture over fish.

DEAR ABBY . . .

He's An Oddball, Lady!
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for five years to a man who is getting on my nerves. He doesn't give me a dime unless I tell him what I need it for. I haven't bought myself any clothes for two years. He says I don't need anything. If HE wants something, he buys it. I don't know what he earns as I've never seen his pay cheque. He takes me to the local drive-in movie three times a year. That's my entertainment. He has an ugly temper, and when he gets mad he kicks everything in sight. He won't leave the house without suntan lotion on his face and dark glasses. Winter and summer! Is something wrong with him? Do you think he's dangerous?

SICK OF IT ALL

DEAR SICK: He is certainly peculiar, and could be dangerous. Ask your clergyman to help you get him to a doctor and do it now.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 16. He is constantly going up to his room and looking across into the neighbor's window where two teen-aged girls have their bedroom. I told my husband and he said it was "natural." I don't think so, do you?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Curiously IS natural, but this is bordering on the mischievous, if not pathological. Tell your son to cut out the peeping, and peep on him until you are sure he has.

DEAR ABBY: Recently my husband and I were invited to a sit-down dinner at the home of an officer of his firm. Everyone there was connected with the company. (Mostly executives and their wives.) One man came without his wife, so I asked my hostess if the absent wife were ill or out of town. She whispered that she didn't invite the wife because she had place settings in chinaware and silver for only 12 and didn't want to spoil her table with an odd place setting. This hostess is a college graduate and supposedly intelligent. Did her reasoning make sense to you?

FLABBERGASTED

DEAR FLABBERGASTED: An odd-place setting probably would not have been noticed. And if it had, no one would have cared. If the hostess actually excluded the man's wife for that reason, SHE is odder than the place setting.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARY-ANN: Your skirt should be short enough to show you're a woman—and long enough to show you're a lady.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Adjusting Dart in Front Gives Extra Back Length

"Dear Eunice:
Please tell us how to adjust a pattern when a person is long waisted in back? The problem is getting the side seams to come out even."

Mrs. M.L.:
Often if a woman isn't large in the bust, it is possible that she may be longer waisted in back (I am assuming you are not speaking of being round-shouldered). Add whatever is necessary for the extra length in back, then, to make the side seams come out even, you will have to make the dart at the side of the bust in front smaller. This will drop the front of the bodice down at the side seams and they should come out even.

As her going-away outfit the bride chose a grey knitted suit, watermelon red hat and black accessories.

Dr. Gordon Lott was best man and ushers were Dr. Donald Clunies and Dr. Rodney Foxwell.

Camosun Chapter IODE, Friday at 2:30 p.m., at headquarters.

Bride's Sisters, the Attendants

Her sisters attended Virginia Marie Bauer when she exchanged vows with Frederick Walter McCord, RCN, in a double-ring ceremony in St. Andrew's Chapel in HMCS Naden, Saturday evening.

The maid of honor, Miss Judy Bauer, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Suzanne Minchin, carried bouquets of yellow roses and white carnations and wore gowns of pink peau de soie and pale blue nylon respectively.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. H. L. A. Minchin, of Victoria, and Mrs. H. L. Bolander, Red Deer, Alta.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white nylon chiffon over taffeta that was fashioned with fitted bodice, lily point sleeves and full hoop skirt. A bow added interest at the back waistline. A pearl tiara held the waist-length veil. Red roses were in the bouquet. Her only jewelry was a cross pendant, gift of the groom.

Chaplain A. J. Mowatt officiated. Don Reid was best man and the bride's cousin, Bryan Yager, ushered guests to their pews.

W. P. Yager proposed the toast to his niece at a reception in Esquimalt Royal Canadian Legion Hall. Blue candles and spring flowers flanked the three-tier wedding cake, made by the bride's mother.

After a honeymoon on the mainland the newlyweds will make their home in Victoria.

Pearson Blasts Socreds For 'Bad Faith, Switches'

MONT-JOLI, Que. (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson, launching a free-swinging attack on the Social Credit party, Tuesday night called them "the most insincere group which ever entered Parliament."

"And I sincerely hope they will never again come into the House," he told an audience in this south shore community which about two-thirds filled a high school auditorium. A total of 200 chairs on the floor were filled and some people were standing.

He said of thousands of Quebecers who voted Social Credit last June "could not know how

'WAR' IN OKANAGAN

Major Cities Fight Over College Site

VERNON (CP) — Rivalry among the principal cities of the Okanagan Valley has flared into the open over the location of a proposed regional college.

Most Okanagan school trustees have said they don't favor Kelowna as the site. Indications were that the trustees, and many residents of Penticton and Vernon, would press for separate colleges in Penticton and Vernon instead of a college at Kelowna.

All three cities had hoped to be chosen the site of a college when Dr. John B. Macdonald, president of the university of British Columbia, began a province-wide study of higher education.

RECOMMENDED KELOWNA

In his final report, Dr. Macdonald recommended a series of regional colleges, with one for the Okanagan located in Kelowna.

"Although it could be argued that the valley could support two-year colleges, perhaps at Penticton and Vernon," his report said, "I believe it desirable both from the standpoint of local interest in high-quality education and fit the needs of the whole province that the people of the Okanagan unite to establish one two-year college which in a few years will become a four-year Okanagan college."

Opposition to the Kelowna site has come from Penticton, Vernon and Kamloops.

At a recent meeting in Kelowna, most members of the Okanagan branch of the B.C. School Trustees Association expressed opposition to the recommendation. Some members favored separate colleges in Penticton, Vernon and Kamloops.

Dr. Mac Stevenson, head of the Okanagan-Mainline Alumni Association, described Vernon's efforts to obtain a college as "childish" and warned that a "hassle about location might ruin it for everybody."

Hugh Shantz, Social Credit MLA for North Okanagan and speaker of the legislature, has said he will press for a college in Vernon.

"Should one college be built, which I think is sufficient," he said, "then I do not think anyone can argue the point that Vernon is the centre of the entire region."

badly they were being misled."

"Never in all my career, in countries which we call free democracies, have I seen so much bad faith, so many switches, and petty bargaining given to precedence over the common good, as occurred during the last Canadian Parliament."

ACTIONS WRONG

"Social Credit provided it was wrong in doctrine and wrong in the actions of its representatives."

His strongly worded attack on Social Credit followed statements by Liberal party workers here that the Conservatives would not nominate in Rimouski or Rivière-du-Loup-Témiscouata in an effort to throw their votes to Social Credit and against the Liberals.

Mr. Pearson said: "I defy anyone to show me a political system in the history of the world that would give each and every citizen the sun, moon and $100-a-month. I defy you to find a system that gives without asking anything in return."

The Liberal leader said only through hard work are solutions to great problems achieved.

"I find it horrifying to find that some people are so sure of themselves they have answers to all problems. I say this is an insult to your intelligence and personally that I am distressed to see such a thing happen in Canada."

ANTI-DIEF VOTE

He said last June's election in which Social Credit elected 26 Quebec MPs where there had been none before in Quebec's 75 Comox seats, "was an anti-Diefenbaker vote." Social Credit leaders then said they were going to "dynamite" the Tory government.

He said Social Credit had its chance but "supported the indecisive government which it was supposed to destroy."

Meanwhile, a group of Vernon residents have begun a campaign to shower Victoria with postcards demanding separate colleges in Penticton and Vernon.

Several hundred postcards already have been printed.

Dr. Macdonald warned in his report that sites at Penticton and Vernon "would not be centrally located and would not meet the maximum accessibility requirements."

Kelowna was chosen because it met requirements of accessibility to the major population concentration, centrality within the valley, reasonably good prospects for continued economic and population growth and proximity to important urban functions.

Is your dog a home-wrecker, too?

MILK-BONE satisfies the bone hunger of your dog

A dog needs to chew, and knows it. In the absence of a bone, even the best-trained dog will find something else to chew—often something he shouldn't. But there are few bones in today's kitchens. Many that are available are not safe or good for your dog. That's why the modern dog goes bone-hungry.

The answer is MILK-BONE—the biscuit with the real bone shape that means wonderful chewing, without a real bone's tendency to splinter or upset the digestion. MILK-BONE also gives your dog all the important nourishment found in milk, meat, bone-meal and vegetables. Get MILK-BONE in the biscuit size that suits the size of your dog—regular or large.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

It was lively, bouncy, tuneful, wacky and wonderful. It was Carol and Company Sunday on television this best and most entertaining hours on television this season.

Vivacious Carol Burnett and her guest, Robert Preston, turned in a solid hour of songs and jokes.

Miss Burnett's sense of comedy timing is marvelous. Her opening gambit, "I Don't Want to Be Nelson (Eddy)" was paced to start the show with a bang. As the stage filled with Mounties and Miss Burnett wore curly like Jeannette MacDonald it was evident the hour was to stay in high gear.

Miss Burnett's fans expect her to be kooky and she didn't disappoint. She has the faculty of making fun of her bad habits to the degree of hilarity. She left the Garry Moore show last season because she was expecting certain facial and body contortions at set moments. Her sense of timing in leaving the show was as right as her claim to the title of best comedienne in show business.

Her guest, Robert Preston, was a rare surprise. The last time I saw him was in a grade B movie with Paulette Goddard back in the '40s. His rise to fame with the role in "The Music Man" was read about. His appearance with Miss Burnett helped make the show.

They excelled in a series of intertwining songs, much like that done by Julie Andrews and Miss Burnett at Carnegie Hall last season. Preston's solo delivered in fast patter style about how he had died in every way in his movie roles was scintillating. Miss Burnett's next appearance is a Calamity Jane musical in the fall. The Sunday hour went by all too quickly.

On the other hand, the Victor Borge Show Monday was a disappointing bore. Where Carol Burnett's material was refreshing, Borge's was stale. He has used it in one form or another off records, in person on stage, and in previous TV specials. The bright spots were his playing a medley from West Side Story and Leonid Hambro's presence in Concerto for Orchestra, One Piano, Two Pianists and Two Conductors.

The master of mimic Marcel Marceau was also in evidence. A little of Marceau goes a long, long way. His routine, The Staircase and The Circus Performer were dull and uninteresting because they had been seen before. His pantomime duet with Borge was clever but overlong. It's too bad. This show should have been the billboard for Borge's Victoria appearance in the near future.

There is a feeling it might work in reverse.

A delightful 20 minutes of comedy and song was that offered up by Jimmy Durante on the Ed Sullivan show.

The addition of the young effervescent Sonny King to the act proved successful. In the middle of the act a reader phoned me at home to suggest the Schnozz was ready for retirement. I disagree. There was a bad sound pick-up from the stage of the Stardust in Las Vegas which should have been corrected by sound engineers in rehearsal.

When you have to strain to hear the lines, this is work . . . and, really, who likes to work?

SOLUTION FRIDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—How does a girl look to herself—nude—when she suddenly sees herself naked... on a big wide screen?

With lots of people ogling her nakedness, besides?

Shirley MacLaine says it unnerved her so much, she's got to go to Miami Beach, the Bahamas and to Tokyo for a rest. Shirley's in a scene in "Irma La Douce" in which Jack Lemmon looks at her—in a bathtub—through the wrong end of a telescope. He therefore sees a very small though naked Shirley.

"But when they showed the rushes in Hollywood, the picture was blown up—and there I was, without a thing on, up on the screen. Some of my friends watching were, naturally, tittering. I couldn't tell them—No, no, they're not going to show that much of me in the picture... it's going to be real small!"

"Honest," claimed Shirley, "I watched the whole thing with my head turned the other way. And when they showed me the still prints—I made a bonfire of the whole thing."

Connie Francis' new house at Essex Fells, N.J., near Caldwell, budgeted originally at $150,000, will wind up costing close to $250,000... but that's all right, because when Connie played Las Vegas recently, she gambled like crazy... yes, with nickels and dimes...

SHIRLEY MacLAINE

Charlie?" Jack Pearl? You'd better—because Jackie Gleason got the older (and his partner, Cliff Hall, now in the Charles Boyer show, "Lord Pengo"), out to tape a Baron Munchausen spot for March 9.

The Baron" resuscitated an old about the haberdasher groaning about bad business, while talking to a friend, like this:

"Monday was lousy, I only sold one suit," the haberdasher said. "Tuesday was worse, I didn't sell any suits. Wednesday was even worse than Tuesday." "Wednesday the man who bought the suit Monday turned the suit!"

Eddie Fisher made news—he came back to N.Y. and didn't have a date with ANYBODY (though chums claim it's on again with Ann-Margret)... Bob Goulet and Carol Lawrence agreed to do a nine-week concert tour next summer starting in Pittsburgh—and if that doesn't break up their romance, what could?

Marty Allen and Steve Rossi played skullduggery—somebody's trying to cause trouble

He referred to the project just before turning the first sod for a new $4,000,000 drug addiction centre near this Fraser Valley community, 45 miles east of Vancouver.

The minister said none of the 16 male addicts had to be returned to prison for breach of parole. This augured well for the rehabilitation program which is planned for the new centre here.

Allan Macleod, commissioner of penitentiaries, said later the 16 were part of a select group of 35 addicts among the 225 in the B.C. penitentiary.

"We have to teach these people some trade or vocational skill so they can get a job," the commissioner said. "The program is to develop self-reliance, self-respect and self-discipline on the part of these men."

Annual Meeting

Vancouver Island Multiple Sclerosis Society will hold its annual meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in the War Amputees Hall, 1610 Oak Bay Avenue.

Speaker will be Dr. E. W. Wylye, director of Simon Fraser Health Unit, New Westminster. He will outline pensions and other assistance available to handicapped persons.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by chili readers and those who submit the question he selects will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and one second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Cynthia Maguire, age 10, of Sarasota, Fla., for her question:

What Is a Crocodile Bird?

The crocodile of the Nile shares his muddy bath water with hosts of other animals. He can cope with the sizeable fishes and water birds. In fact, he needs them for food. But some of the water bugs, leeches and other small creatures give him nothing but trouble. In order to cope with them, the crocodile needs the help of his friend, the crocodile bird.

The crocodile bird is a distant cousin of our handsome plovers, the killdeer, and the spindly-legged sandpiper. He is a neat, black and white bird with a crested head, and he struts on the long, thin legs which are so useful for wading along the shore. His native land is Africa, and his shores are the banks of the muddy Nile.

The terror of these waters is the mighty crocodile. He swims along with never a tell-tale ripple or lies hidden in the murky water with only his

Feeds on Water Bugs

The crocodile bird feeds on water bugs of all kinds, and somehow he knows that a few choice morsels are always to be found fixed to the crocodile. He and his relatives stroll over the huge body grubbing for food, and the crocodile does not mind them at all. In fact, he is eager to give away his parasites, and the bird is eager to take them. When other water birds come near him, the toothy monster grabs without warning—but he does not hurt the crocodile bird.

In Africa, the crocodile bird is called the zicza, and people there say that the bold bird will even walk right into the gaping mouth of the crocodile. The big fellow, maybe 30 feet long, keeps his jaws wide open while his small friend picks out the bothersome, bloodsucking leeches from among his teeth. When the bird is finished, the crocodile lets him stroll safely away—or so they say.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Marvin Tatte Jr., age seven, of Des Moines, Ia., for his question:

What is the animal family of the armadillo?

The armor-plated armadillos belong in the animal family Dasypodidae. This fine-sounding scientific name means the hare-footed ones. This does not mean that the stodgy creatures can run like hares—from it. But their feet are shaped somewhat like the feet of the hare.

The family Dasypodidae is one of several animal families in a larger group of animals called order. The armadillo family is in the order Edentata, which means the toothless ones. Some of the anteaters in this order are really toothless. But the armadillo happens to have as many as 24 teeth, set like little pegs in his jaws.

WISH ID SAID THAT: "A wedding ring is a tournequin designed to stop circulation. (Vic Sorrell, Honolulu.)

EARL'S PEARLS: "Anybody who's really relaxed in these tempestuous times—should be very nervous about it." (Henry Youngman.)

REMEMBERED QUOTES: "Why should I paint dead fish, onions and beer glasses. Girls are so much prettier." (Marie Laurencin.)

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "I've paid my taxes and still have some money left in the bank, but I don't know how much—I haven't shaken it yet." (Paul Taubman.)

FORTUNATELY, SENOR CASA LIVES NEAR THE WATER, FELIPE.

I HAVE IT!... WE'LL BUILD A PUNT... IF SENOR CASA WILL LET US USE THE BOARDS FROM THESE SHELVES.

CERTAINLY.

LATER: THERE'S NOT MUCH OF A BOAT, BUT PERHAPS GOOD ENOUGH TO FERRY OUR STUFF OUT TO THE ISLAND.

JUST HOW WILL WE GET THE LUMBER AND TOOLS TO OUR ISLAND, BUZ?

MAYBE SOME GUYS COULDN'T TAKE CAMPING OUT IN THIS WEATHER, BUT I'LL BET I COULD!

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, SKIP? YOU'D BE PRESSING THE PANIC BUTTON BY THE END OF THE FIRST DAY!

IS THAT SO? I'LL TELL YOU WHAT, I'LL DO SCOUT... I'LL GO WITH YOU RIGHT NOW AND CAMP WITH YOU ON TOP OF MT. CLAYMORE FOR TWO DAYS... WELL SEE WHO CHICKENS OUT!

DON'T MAKE EXCUSES FOR GOOD OLD SCOUT, MR. TRAIL—UNLESS YOU'RE AFRAID. HELL GET COLD FEET!

WHAT'S UP, KID?

THAT'S ALL I GOT.

IN DEFENSE OF BILLY MITCHELL!

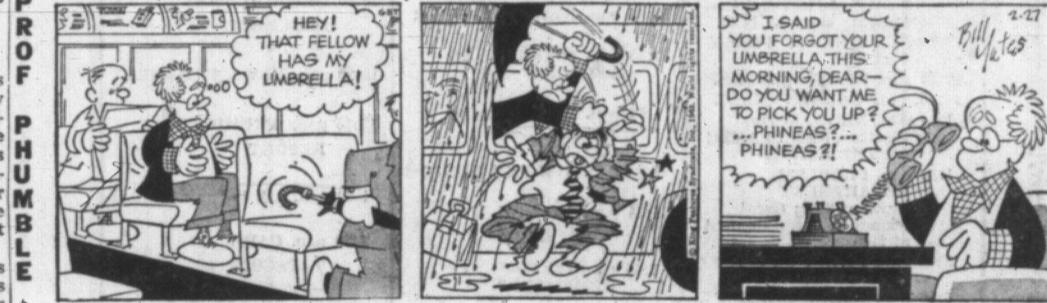

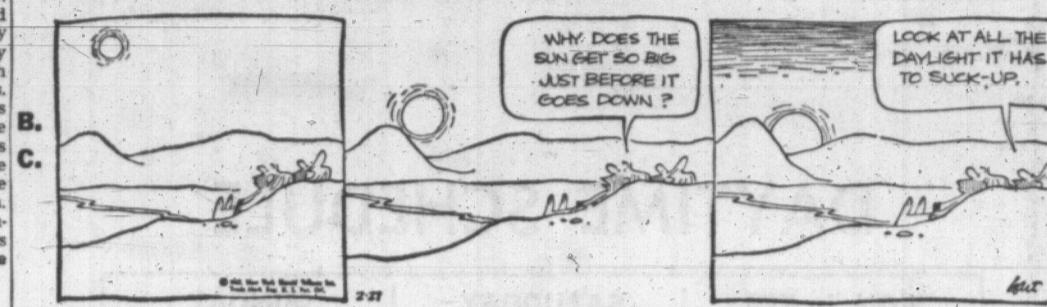

MISS PEACH

ARTHUR IS CONFUSED BY THE DIRECT-DIAL TELEPHONE SYSTEM?

YES, MISS PEACH. THE OTHER DAY HE TRIED TO DIAL HIS FATHER IN CHEYENNE, WYOMING...

REALLY? WHAT HAPPENED, ARTHUR?

NATIONAL ISSUE IN U.S.

School Prayers Before Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Maryland cases sharpened once again into the Supreme Court's 6-1 decision last June 25, declaring unconstitutional the use in New York public schools of a non-denominational prayer written by school officials.

Before the nine justices are appeals involving use of the Lord's Prayer and readings from the Bible in schools in Maryland and Pennsylvania.

The cases, however, have national scope and will give the tribunal an opportunity to spell out how far it believes the founding fathers intended to go in separating church and state.

It's been estimated that throughout the country more than 30 per cent of all schools practice a morning devotional, usually in the form of the Lord's Prayer.

FATIGUE KNOCKS OUT OPERA STAR

NEW YORK (AP)—Renata Tebaldi, Metropolitan Opera Company soprano, is suffering from general fatigue and has been ordered by her doctors to take a long rest.

Rudolph Bing, Met general manager, said Tuesday her appearances will be cancelled for the rest of the New York season and the Met's spring tour.

RECEIVES SUPPORT

The court also, however, received support from those who contend the "official prayer" was a breach of the first and 14th amendments to the constitution.

The first amendment states: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof." The 14th amendment, adopted in 1868, imposed these restrictions on the states as well as Congress.

Under its customary practice, the Supreme Court found it necessary to rule on the Pennsylvania and Maryland appeals whether it wanted to or not.

In Pennsylvania's case, a state court ruled Bible readings and recitation of the Lord's Prayer did not violate the constitution. Federal judges in Pennsylvania, however, said the opposite. A final decision by the higher tribunal in such an important appeal was required.

In the Maryland case, the state's Court of Appeals ruled 4 to 3 against objections by Mrs. Madalyn E. Murray and her 16-year-old son against daily school opening religious exercises required by the Baltimore board of education. The Murrays identify themselves as atheists.

Ninety miles of this extension would be in B.C. with the remainder in Alberta. This, he said, would result in development of the natural resources in the Northwest Territories, allowing them to be transported to tidewater areas at Prince Rupert or Vancouver.

Mr. Huhn also said the B.C. government railroad should be extended 200 miles north to Hudson Hope, the site of the Peace River power project dam site.

Varsity Theatre Open on April 2

Plans for a major university theatre on the Gordon Head campus may be a long way from top priority, but theatre activity is by no means at a standstill.

With the enthusiastic co-operation of faculty and students, a tiny workshop theatre is now taking shape.

It will be ready for opening on Tuesday, April 2. Two short plays will be presented nightly for the balance of that week, one of which will be Ionesco's "The Lesson", now in rehearsal.

Created out of an H-shaped complex armchair platform, work starts this week on the redecorating and other details. The labor force is a voluntary one, composed of faculty members and students.

University administration financed basic reconstruction of the hut.

Seating 100 persons, it will follow the design of Vancouver professional theatre designer, Ted Parker. The audience will be seated on a flexible series of ramps that can be arranged in a variety of ways.

The stage will also be flexible, allowing proscenium, arena, open-end and avenue style presentations.

Overall effect of the theatre will be lightness and brightness. There will be a foyer, cloakroom and coffee bar for the convenience of patrons, and greenroom as well as dressing room facilities for the players.

Major productions as well as experimental drama will be centred in the small theatre, which sets the stage for a possible elective theatre course to start next fall.

In Our House

By Arthur Mayse

The tulips on Speaker Shantz' table are still fresh and fair, but the unnatural calm of Monday was only a weather-breeder. We can see it now as prelude to the storm whose first onslaught we felt when NDP Gordon Dowding laid his graft charges before our House Tuesday afternoon.

How hard and long this gale will blow, I won't try to guess. But the earlier campaign fund shakedown allegations are the merest breeze by comparison. An investigation-in-depth—domestic if Attorney-General Bonner gets his way, by royal commission if Opposition Leader Strachan prevails—is inevitable.

Roost with me in the Speaker's Gallery, behind us the daily visitation of nice high school kids, while Gordon Hudson Dowding of Burnaby follows this slow windup with the bean-ball.

Below, the House looks much as it does on any mid-session afternoon with the budget debate trailing toward its close. A number of government seats are empty, among them Mr. Gagliardi's and the premier's.

High, Fast Pitch

Mr. Dowding notes that the widely-distributed budget speech is bound in Sodex white and green. He suggests that for the B.C. motto, "Splendor sine Occasu," Mr. Bennett might well substitute "populi carbonundum," or "grind the people down."

Then, almost without pre-ambles, the Burnaby member cuts loose with the high, fast pitch.

There have been hints and rumors in this big grey-stone whispering gallery of ours. But my impression is that the magnitude of the NDP charges catches the government side less than prepared.

So underplayed is this quiet drama that the students behind us are slow to realize anything out of the ordinary is going on below. But by degrees their whispering stops.

Up and Down

Mr. Dowding began his speech, second of the afternoon, shortly after 3 p.m. He is about ten minutes along with his list of charges when, at 3:25, Mr. Bonner rises.

"Will the honorable member permit me to interpose a question?"

Request denied, he sits down in silence.

So to the end. The member resumes his seat, but only for a minute. Before Salmon Arm Socred Willis Jefcoat has more than launched his speech, Gordon Dowding gets up, bows to the Speaker, and leaves the House.

Upstairs, in a restaurant buzzing with MLAs, reporters find him alone at one of the smaller tables. He looks tired and strained.

"It didn't make me happy, having to do that," he says. "As a lawyer, I'd sooner defend than prosecute."

Anti-Climax

His speech is anti-climax. He's the boy stolidly munching birthday cake in a corner after the party has dissolved in a free-for-all. The urgent business of our House—what to do about the Dowding charges—is being conducted in corridors, party offices and the restaurant. At the moment, nobody's much interested in waterfowl.

I can spare a morsel of pity for Mr. Bonner, too. His chief absent, Highways Minister Gagliardi in Chicago, the attorney-general for those loaded minutes, carried his party on his shoulders unaided.

And I can't help being sorry for the impression of our House those high school students took home with them.

It wasn't edifying.

DIEF OPENS CAMPAIGN ON WHISTLE-STOP TOUR

(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA—Prime Minister Diefenbaker hits the campaign trail tonight, beginning his electioneering with a 10-day round trip through Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

This first segment of his campaign includes travel by train, plane and bus, with heavy emphasis on whistle-stop calls by rail.

In last year's election race, the prime minister covered the nation quickly by air.

Bennett Sees More Rate Cuts

FOUR BODIES IN PLANE WRECKAGE

CALGARY (CP)—The bodies of four men—the pilot and a three-man CBC television crew—were found in the wreckage of a crashed aircraft southwest of here yesterday.

The premier told Chilliwack chamber of commerce the next reduction is due March 30th. He said he hoped some of this year's expected reduction will apply to natural gas, commercial and home consumption rates.

The premier said he hoped the reduction could be made every March 30th, the anniversary of government amalgamation of the B.C. Electric Company and B.C. Power commission into the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

The premier said he has discussed the matter with the power authority, "and it is no secret we shall take these reductions to take place."

"I hope they will take place every year."

The premier said negotiations over development of the Columbia river hydro project have been going on steadily with Ottawa and the U.S.

"Everything is agreed except the price," he said. "It is very close to coming to an understanding and, irrespective of who might be elected in Ottawa, although I might have my own personal opinions, I am sure that great development will take place."

The premier said that the government does not interfere in the ordinary running of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

However, he said, the government has certain aims.

"We want to bring the benefits quickly and progressively to the people of our province," he said. "But we don't want to take the cream off and leave the skim milk. We want to build it on a solid foundation."

DEFENDS TAKEOVER

Answering criticism of the B.C. Electric takeover, the premier again defended his government's action as democratic. The legislation had been endorsed by all parties in the legislature.

In an aside during his speech the premier said his government is not planning to take over the B.C. Telephone Company.

Looking at Chilliwack chamber of commerce president Dave Greenwood at the head table, Mr. Bennett said: "I say to the telephone company we are not going to take them over."

Mr. Greenwood is manager of the Chilliwack branch of the telephone company.

VETERAN LAWYER DECLINES

Charman to Carry Tory Flag

By JOHN MIKA

Eric Charman was nominated Tuesday night as the Progressive Conservative standard bearer in Victoria after veteran Tory William Haldane declined to oppose him.

About 300 party members turned out at Holyrood House but conspicuous by their absence were the federal riding association's president P. J. Sinnott and A. deB. McPhilips, former MP for the riding.

Mr. Sinnott said he would boycott the meeting because it was only a "set up" for 31-year-old mortgage company president Charman.

Mr. Charman was first to be nominated at the meeting.

Mr. Haldane was nominated in a move which he claimed was even a surprise to him.

They'll Drag Up Anything

Highways Minister Philip Gagliardi said today that under the system used in paying for work contracts it would take a team of corruptors in the department to carry out any plan for graft.

The minister, in a telephone interview from Chicago where he attended a showing of earth-moving equipment, was referring to affidavits tabled in the legislature by Burnaby NDP member Gordon Dowding alleging departmental work sheets were altered to permit wrongful payment of some $135,000.

Mr. Gagliardi said: "This is sheer and filthy, and it appears they (the NDP) will drag up anything."

Mr. Gagliardi charged that Mr. Dowding based his charges in the legislature simply to get maximum "propaganda value."

ALWAYS CORRECT

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—And he strongly defended E. C. Webster, department director of construction and other men in the department saying:

"I have never found any indication of any of them following anything but the correct procedure."

Regarding a charge that he had promised to "take care" of Union Contractors Limited if the firm paid off a department employee's mortgage, Mr. Gagliardi said:

"How could I promise to pay anybody anything and then get a raft of engineers in the department to go along with it?"

"He said it was possible for final estimates on a job to change. But the system ruled out the possibility of a contractor getting money for work not done."

NO DEAL

The minister also denied the affidavits charges there was a deal with the former L. and M. Logging Company of Kamloops to pay Mrs. Florence Gresty Social Credit party member $350 a month from a logging company in Princeton, B.C., as a bookkeeper for $350 a month about five years ago. She did not name the company, but said the president was Burt Lymburner.

Mr. Lymburner was a director of L. and M.

"I have never paid a cent by them or any other company except for work that I honestly performed for wages."

She said she was a candidate for Maekenzie in 1952 while living in Powell River and "I wasn't paid a red cent for that."

Gordon Dowding, New Democratic Party member for Burnaby, named Mrs. Gresty in tabling affidavits alleging misuse.

Road Builder's Affidavit Filed by Dowding

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Allegations of graft in the B.C. highways department were laid before the legislature Tuesday.

They were contained in an affidavit from a contractor and a series of documents tabled by Gordon Dowding (NDP—Burnaby).

They allege:

• A total of $135,300 was paid to a contractor for work never done.

• A construction firm paid $350 a month to an organist in the Kamloops church of Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi.

• Mr. Gagliardi ordered the firm to pay off a mortgage for a man believed to be the organist's husband, and promised it later rewards.

The allegations were hotly denied by Mr. Gagliardi Tuesday night in Chicago.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan called for a royal commission of inquiry.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner tried to present a motion referring the whole matter to the public accounts committee. It was blocked by Mr. Strachan.

She said she had once worked for a logging company in Princeton, B.C., as a bookkeeper for $350 a month about five years ago. She did not name the company, but said the president was Burt Lymburner.

Mr. Lymburner was a director of L. and M.

Legal Action Planned By Contractor

The contractor who alleges graft in the highways department plans legal action in B.C., according to his U.S. lawyer.

Lawyer Everett W. Gross of Helena, Montana, is representing contractor Dick Holzworth, whose allegations were read to the legislature Tuesday.

He said today Mr. Holzworth lost $200,000 because of graft and is fighting to get the money back.

There is further litigation pending in B.C. and all stems from the contract mentioned in the affidavit," Mr. Gross said.

He said he will visit Creston Friday to continue his investigations.

Mr. Gross said he could not disclose the nature of the pending litigation.

BACK IT UP

Referring to the allegations of graft, in which Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi was named, Mr. Gross said:

"We don't make any charges we can't back up."

He said Mr. Holzworth had invested his money in a company called Union Contractors which took over another company in 1958 along with L. and M.'s contract for a stretch of the Trans-Canada Highway near Revelstoke.

Union went broke and Holzworth charged his partner "juggled" the company bank account.

OUTLOOK, Sask. (CP)—Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton said Tuesday "cynical newsmen are brainwashing the country."

"My prayer is that we will be directed in this matter of nuclear arms. Some may ridicule that belief on my part. I believe that the Western world has been directed by God in the last few years, or there would have been no survival. I believe that will continue. # Times Team Tramp, Tramp, Tramping Along the Highway

Two Times staff members set out this morning to see just how tough a task it is to walk 50 miles in under 20 hours — the now-famous U.S. presidential fitness yardstick.

One is a lady, the other a gentleman. Neither professes to athletic prowess, neither is a physical cultist, and, at press time, neither knew whether the 50 miles walk would be completed. The intrepid pair are Marg Gilroy, of the Women's Department; and Humphrey Davy, veteran reporter and observer of nature.

Marines Did It
They caught 50-mile fever when the pros and cons of JFK's order to his marine corps were argued. The presidential order:

DISC JOCKEY LOSES CONTROL OF LEG MUSCLES AS TREK ENDS

A disc jockey in Edmonton is among the latest to test out President Kennedy's fitness yardstick — a 50-mile hike completed in under 20 hours.

John Dolan, 29, of radio station CHED, pounded the pavement between Wetaskiwin and Edmonton from 9 p.m. Monday to 3:30 p.m. Tuesday to see if he could stand up to President Kennedy's fitness requirements.

The ex-soldier was cheered by a crowd of 200 as he arrived at his radio station.

Suffering from sore thighs and sore soles, Dolan had no control over his leg muscles after passing Ellerslie, about 10 miles south of Edmonton. A man on either side helped keep him pointed in the right direction.

I have been asked to find a place in the Old Jokes Home for the following Old Joke:

The trouble is, I am not convinced it is an Old Enough Joke to warrant free room and board in the Old Jokes Home.

In fact, the first time I heard this Joke was when application was made for admittance to the Old Jokes Home.

Perhaps some constituent can let me know if this Joke is old enough.

There was this wealthy country gentleman, see, and he loved to hunt ducks and pheasants and cougars and partridge and other fierce game.

But his greatest joy was not in the shooting of these fierce birds and animals, it was in the performance of the dogs who helped him hunt.

He had great, large kennels, in which he kept a great, large number of dogs, both large and small.

He had pointers and setters, goers and getters, retrievers and receivers. He had smooth-coated dogs, curly-coated dogs, and even shaggy dogs. (Don't let that throw you off the scent.)

But there was one dog he didn't have. And that was the Dog Who Can Do Everything.

So this very wealthy country gentleman let it be known that he would pay Any Price for a dog which can do anything.

One day there arrived at the country estate of this gentleman a dog trainer, accompanied by a dog; and this dog trainer claimed that his dog could, indeed, do anything.

So the wealthy country gentleman said, show me, and the dog trainer took his dog out into the fields, and the dog made perfect points, and the dog found small game in the roughest brush areas, and the dog retrieved with elegant style and a soft mouth, and the dog made more straight flushes than a riverboat gambler.

The wealthy country gentleman tried to conceal his interest, but the dog trainer was sure he had himself a customer.

"I will show you one more thing this dog can do," said the dog trainer, "and then I will sell him to you for a half-zillion dollars."

So the dog and the trainer and the wealthy country gentleman went to a large pond, over which a convenient covey of ducks was hanging around, waiting for action.

And the dog trainer out with his trusty shotgun, and shot down one of the ducks, which fell, ker-plunk, in the middle of the large pond.

On signal, the dog took off and trotted across the surface of the pond, retrieved the duck, and trotted back across the surface of the pond without even getting his pads wet.

"See?" said the dog trainer. "This dog can do anything."

"Oh, no he can't," said the wealthy country gentleman. "Why, that critter can't even swim."

see if present-day marines can march 50 miles in 20 hours, as all marines had to do in President Theodore Roosevelt's time.

With the co-operation of various other staff members, who were anxious to do everything possible to help — short of actually walking! — Marg and Humphrey laid out a 50-mile course up-island from the Fountain Circle.

North of Duncan

They were transported to their starting point, about eight miles north of Duncan, in the dawn hours, and started their marathon stroll at 7:15 a.m.

Their route measured by speedometer was planned to take them down Island via the waterfront — skirting Cowichan Bay Road, then back up to the Trans-Canada Highway, over the Malahat summit, and Highway No. 1 into town.

'Little Stiff'

They started off at a fairly brisk pace — although record-setting was not an objective — and by 10:15 had reached Duncan, where Marg persuaded Humphrey to pause for a cup of coffee.

Shortly after 10:30 they were intercepted at the Cowichan River bridge, about 11 miles from the starting point, by two associates from the Times.

"All well, but a little stiff," reported Humphrey.

Heels Chafed

"My heels are beginning to chafe," said Marg, cheerily. "Could you get me a bandage or something from the drug store?"

At which Humphrey admitted that the condition of his feet, too, left something to be desired.

While Marg bathed her feet in the cooling Cowichan waters, a rush trip to the Duncan pharmacy produced materials which achieved at least temporary comfort, and the hike was resumed.

No estimated time of arrival has been set for the finish of the 50-mile walk — which, when the ups and downs of the Island portion of the Trans-Canada Highway are considered, is a mighty long 50 miles.

Longshoreman Draws $200 Fine On Assault Count

A longshoreman was fined $200 in city police court today for assaulting a customs officer at Ogden Point last Friday.

The officer, Donald McCulloch, told the court that Claude Peden, 1222 Glyn, had attacked him when he tried to question him.

Peden was employed that day in unloading spirits from the freighter the Caledonian Star at the pier.

Mr. McCulloch said he approached the accused as he left the ship, saying "I want to talk to you."

"At first he made as if to run," the officer said, "but then he turned and swung at me."

When Mr. McCulloch pinched the man's arm he swung at him with his left fist, and the customs officer threw him to the ground.

Legs Are Willing, but the feet may be weak. This was indicated at mid-morning today when Marg Gilroy (above) paused to cool over-heated pedal extremities at Cowichan River crossing as hike partner Humphrey Davy stood by. Pair started off with cheery wave (far left) and hit brisk pace at beginning of long walk. (Times photos by Bill Halkett.)

Archer Hints City Needs Police Dogs

There's a future here for police dogs.

That became evident today when George Archer told city police commission he definitely would deal with the subject in his report on the police department.

Dogs were introduced successfully in Vancouver while Mr. Archer was police chief.

The commission, which budgeted $1,500 for experimenting with training three dogs and police handlers, decided to defer action until it receives Mr. Archer's report.

It also deferred decision on some improvements to the police building when Mr. Archer said he would be willing to consult with an architect regarding a complete renovation of the building's layout.

Throughout the meeting, Mr. Archer was busy taking notes on the commission's proceedings.

The commission was officially notified that the wage dispute with the policemen's union will go to arbitration.

The move was expected after a conciliation officer was appointed recently. He was unsuccessful in settling the dispute in which the commission refused to accede to union requests for wage parity with Vancouver policemen.

A three-man board will make a binding decision after a hearing.

A proposal by city engineer J. C. Garnett that the Corps of Commissioners' parking meter patrols also be authorized to ticket cars that are illegally parked in loading zones or other situations was referred for study.

Commission was told that the policemen's union had taken strong objection to extending jurisdiction of the commissioners in traffic matters.

But Chief Blackstock said it "seems ridiculous" that a meter-patrolling commission had no power to ticket an improperly parked car as well as over-parked ones.

Commission authorized Chief Blackstock to attend the sixth annual Western Police Chiefs Conference in Calgary April 22-24.

It also instructed the chief to arrange a tour of the police building for the criminal justice committee of Victoria Bar Association.

During his travels Prof. Emery will gather material for a volume of essays concerning the arts at the major galleries of the U.S., Canada and Europe.

ESSAYS

During his travels Prof. Emery will renew acquaintance with the best work of past and present, so that my teaching and criticism of the arts will benefit.

"It is 10 years since I was in Europe and in that time one forgets what art masterpieces really look like."

During his European travels Prof. Emery plans to visit Dusseldorf, Germany.

Chinese-Canadian to Seek Esquimalt SC Nomination

Native Victorian Edward Lum, 34-year-old greenhouse and motel operator, announced today he will stand for nomination as Social Credit candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich federal riding Thursday night at the View Royal community hall.

Mr. Lum of 1886 Feltham Road, is the third Canadian of Chinese origin to try for a House of Commons seat. (See story Page 16.)

Mr. Lum attended Cedar Hill School, Mount Douglas and Victoria High Schools and has lived in Gordon Head all his life.

He owns one of the largest greenhouses in the province —

$4,500 Fellowship Awarded Professor

Prof. Tony Emery, assistant professor of history and English at Victoria College, has been awarded a Canada Council Fellowship for a year's study and research in the United States and Europe.

With his wife and two daughters, Prof. Emery will leave here at the end of the college term for a tour of eastern Canadian art galleries before continuing to Europe.

The fellowship, valued at $4,500 plus travelling expenses, provides for a year's study and research in three main fields.

1. The teaching of fine arts courses, practical and theoretical, at the university and art school level in Europe and the United States.

2. Patronage of the arts at the national, provincial and municipal level in various different countries.

3. The study of art collections in the major galleries of the U.S., Canada and Europe.

Spokesman for the Bay City police department said the suspect had used the identity of D. L. Brothers, Socred MLA for Rossland Trail, while in the U.S.

McCullough is wanted in Victoria in connection with the theft of Mr. Brothers' briefcase containing identification, credit cards and other papers from his Empress Hotel room.

He also is wanted here in connection with a number of subsequent forgeries and false pretences offences involving credit cards in the MLA's name.

But city police are awaiting the outcome of the San Francisco trial before attempting to lay charges.

It is believed McCullough also may be charged with illegal entry into the U.S.

Burglary Loot Found In Stolen Sport Car

DEPUTY SPEAKER HAS PNEUMONIA

Alex Matthew, 76-year-old deputy speaker in the B.C. legislature, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital today suffering from bronchial pneumonia.

The car, a bright red model, was reported stolen overnight from Capri Motors Ltd., 1030 Yates.

A small office at the rear of the premises had been broken into, and only the keys to the sports car taken, police were told.

Mr. Matthew has been a Social Credit member of the legislature for Vancouver Centre since 1953.

City police investigating a stolen luxury sports car, which was located Tuesday, found in the car a quantity of clothing believed stolen overnight from Les Palmer's Men's Clothing Ltd., 714 View.

Entrance had been gained through the club's furnace room window, and a hole smashed in an inside office door which was then unlocked. The theft was made from an upstairs kitchen.

An undetermined quantity of money also was reported stolen from the Cedar Hill golf clubhouse. But it is believed the theft was not the work of burglars from outside.

A kitchen window was broken and then unlocked to admit thieves who ransacked the premises of 444 Linden Ave., while the owner Mrs. F. Purser was in California.

Rev. and Mrs. C. G. McKenzie, who were looking after the house while the owner was out of town, told police they had left for a trip up the Island Feb. 18, and had discovered the break-in on their return Tuesday morning.

Reported missing were a transistor radio belonging to an employee, a family allowance cheque for $8, a silver ashtray, a manicure and brush set, two centennial dollars, a velvet waistcoat, two pairs of shoes, and two men's shirts.

In the car, which was spotted on Vancouver between Johnson and Pandora, police found the following articles:

Nine pairs of men's trousers, three waistcoats, two wallets, two shaving kits, tie pins, handkerchiefs, cufflinks, a shirt and an over coat.

WORTH $170.

Total value of the clothing in the car was estimated at $170. The car itself was not damaged.

Meanwhile, thieves who broke into the Club Street, 1037 View, made off with a 22-pound turkey. They left behind a quantity of sliced ham and two pounds of cheese.

The four private brand stations, along with a handful of still independent major company dealers, were selling at 38.9 cents a gallon — a price two cents higher than the Vancouver private brand price.

Other prices ranged up to the 40.9 cents still being charged by British-American Oil and Home Oil to 44.9 being asked by a few dealers who were still trying to maintain the price generally prevailing before Imperial Oil moved to meet private brand competition Feb. 13.

Spokesman for the Bay City police department said the suspect had used the identity of D. L. Brothers, Socred MLA for Rossland Trail, while in the U.S.

McCullough is wanted in Victoria in connection with the theft of Mr. Brothers' briefcase containing identification, credit cards and other papers from his Empress Hotel room.

FOUR-BODIES IN PLANE
WRECKAGE

CALGARY (CP) — The bodies of four men—the pilot and a three-man CBC television crew—were found in the wreckage of a crashed aircraft southwest of here today.

Missing since Monday morning were pilot Bill Prentice, 27, of Calgary, and Normand Caton, 40, Len MacDonald 33 and Charles Reigler, 33, all on assignment from the CBC in Toronto.

The aircraft from which they were photographing an elk herd was "rolled up like a ball" on the east side of a razor-back ridge in the Purcupine Hills, 18 miles west of Claresholm.

The tulips on Speaker Shantz' table are still fresh and fair, but the unnatural calm of Monday was only a weather-breed.

We can see it now as prelude to the storm whose first onslaught we felt when NDP Gordon Dowding laid his graft charges before our House Tuesday afternoon.

How hard and long this gale will blow, I won't try to guess. But the earlier campaign fund shakedown allegations are the merest breeze by comparison. An investigation-in-depth—domestic Attorney General Bonner gets his way, by royal commission if Opposition Leader Strachan prevails—is inevitable.

Root with me in the Speaker's Gallery, behind us the daily visitation of nice high school kids, while Gordon Hudson Dowding of Burnaby, follows his slow windup with the bean-ball.

Below, the House looks much as it does on any mid-session afternoon with the budget debate trailing toward its close. A number of government seats are empty, among them Mr. Gagliardi's and the premier's.

High, Fast Pitch

Mr. Dowding notes that the widely-distributed budget speech is bound in Sorel white and green. He suggests that for the B.C. motto, "Splendens sine Occasu," Mr. Bennett might well substitute "populi carborundum" or "grind the people down."

Then, almost without preamble, the Burnaby members take loose with the high, fast pitch.

There have been hints and rumors in this big grey-stone whispering gallery of ours. But my impression is that the magnitude of the NDP charges catches the government side less than prepared.

So underplayed is this quiet drama that the students behind us are slow to realize anything out of the ordinary is going on below. But by degrees their whispers stop.

Up and Down

Mr. Dowding began his speech, second of the afternoon, shortly after 3 p.m. He is about ten minutes along with his list of charges when, at 3:25, Mr. Bonner rises.

"Will the honorable member permit me to interpose a question?"

Request denied, he sits down in silence.

So to the end. The member resumes his seat, but only for a minute. Before Salmon Arm Sacred Willis-Jefcoat has more than launched his speech, Gordon Dowding gets up, bows to the Speaker, and leaves the House.

Upstairs, in a restaurant buzzing with MLAs, reporters find him alone at one of the smaller tables. He looks tired and strained.

"It didn't make me happy, having to do that," he says. "As a lawyer, I'd sooner defend than prosecute."

Anti-Climax

His speech is anti-climax. He's the boy stolidly munching birthday cake in a corner after the party has dissolved in a free-for-all. The urgent business of our House—what to do about the Dowding charges—is being conducted in corridors, party offices and the restaurant.

We can see it now as prelude to the storm whose first onslaught we felt when NDP Gordon Dowding laid his graft charges before our House Tuesday afternoon.

How hard and long this gale will blow, I won't try to guess. But the earlier campaign fund shakedown allegations are the merest breeze by comparison. An investigation-in-depth—domestic Attorney General Bonner gets his way, by royal commission if Opposition Leader Strachan prevails—is inevitable.

Root with me in the Speaker's Gallery, behind us the daily visitation of nice high school kids, while Gordon Hudson Dowding of Burnaby, follows his slow windup with the bean-ball.

Below, the House looks much as it does on any mid-session afternoon with the budget debate trailing toward its close. A number of government seats are empty, among them Mr. Gagliardi's and the premier's.

The premier told Chilliwack chamber of commerce the next reduction is due March 30th. He said he hoped some of this year's expected reduction will apply to natural gas, commercial and home consumption rates.

The premier said he hoped the reduction could be made every March 30th, the anniversary of government amalgamation of the B.C. Electric Company and B.C. Power Commission into the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

The premier said negotiations over development of the Columbia river hydro project have been going on steadily with Ottawa and the U.S.

"Everything is agreed except the price," he said. "It is very close to coming to an understanding and, irrespective of who might be elected in Ottawa, although I might have my own personal opinions, I am sure that great development will take place."

The premier said that the government does not interfere in the ordinary running of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

"However, he said, the government has certain aims.

"We want to bring the benefits quickly and progressively to the people of our province," he said. "But we don't want to take the cream off and leave the skim milk. We want to build it on a solid foundation."

DEFENDS TAKEOVER

Answering criticism of the B.C. Electric takeover, the premier again defended his government's action as democratic. The legislation had been endorsed by all parties in the legislature.

"There is no guarantee it would be a proper investigation," he said.

Mr. Strachan said the committee can only check vouchers for money spent and would have no way of knowing if certain work were actually performed.

Also, it could not secure the services of a proper counsel.

The investigation should be made under a Supreme Court judge, he said, and he should be assisted by any Queen's Counsel in British Columbia.

Mr. Strachan said on a previous occasion when the committee was charged with investigating reports about the Stewart-Gillar Road it "got nowhere."

Picket Line Opens for PWA Pilots

VANCOUVER (CP) — A picket line was opened briefly today to allow two pilots to report for duty aboard struck Pacific Western Airlines planes.

But the move apparently did not mean all pilots would be allowed through to work. The line was re-established after pilots James Dunbar and Art Jung were aboard.

St. Andrews, Royals Kept Out of PCL

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Pacific Coast Soccer League has rejected reinstatement applications from St. Andrews and Westminster Royals.

Royals and St. Andrews resigned from the league last September in protest over the promotion and relegation playoff with the mainland league and admittance of Vancouver Pils to the PCL.

Smoke Eaters Whip U.S. 6-1

GOTEBORG, Sweden (UPI) — The Trail Smoke Eaters, Canada's entry in the world hockey championships in Stockholm, tonight opened their Swedish visit by beating the United States 6-1.

The exhibition game was watched by only 1,254 fans at the new Ullevi outdoor rink.

More Rate Cuts Seen By Bennett

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett Tuesday night predicted a $5,000,000 reduction in British Columbia's power rates each year for the next 10 years.

The premier told Chilliwack chamber of commerce the next reduction is due March 30th. He said he hoped some of this year's expected reduction will apply to natural gas, commercial and home consumption rates.

The premier said he hoped the reduction could be made every March 30th, the anniversary of government amalgamation of the B.C. Electric Company and B.C. Power Commission into the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

Speaker Hugh Shantz ruled him out of order.

At adjournment of the House, Mr. Bonner attempted to make a motion passing the matter over to the committee. Unanimous consent of the House for an improvised motion is required and Mr. Strachan refused it.

Afterwards, Mr. Strachan said that a public accounts committee investigation would only last as long as the session of the legislature.

Full-Scale Probe Strachan Target

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan Tuesday called for a royal commission into allegations of graft in the highways department.

He blocked a bid in the legislature by Attorney-General Robert Bonner to have the charges referred to the public accounts committee.

However, they're likely to end up there anyway.

Mr. Bonner made two attempts to join the issue in the House. The first was when he tried to ask questions during the exhibition game by Gordon Dowding (NDP-Burnaby), in which the allegations were made.

The premier said that the government does not interfere in the ordinary running of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

He said he had never met his accuser, Dick Holzworth.

He said he was a candidate for Mackenzie in 1952 while living in Powell River and "I wasn't paid a red cent for that."
